Soaring Southern Style

Suddenly you're in college; you're a fledgling trying your wings for the first time. As you learn to adjust to this new life, you may find that you sometimes fall to the ground, and you often return to your home to seek the comfort and security of familiar surroundings. Soon you find yourself gliding into campus activities and interpersonal relationships, and the flights home become less frequent. Realizing now that you are on your own, you dive into your major course of study; you know that the sky's the limit as you begin setting higher goals for yourself. You also begin constructing a nest of your own, discarding the feathers of adolescence as you assume the grace of adulthood. Twigs of experience, knowledge, and courage reinforce your new abode.

Finally you find yourself at the pinnacle of your abilities, still soaring even higher. You must shoot for the stars and be confident you can rise to your destiny 'cause you learned to Soar Southern Style!

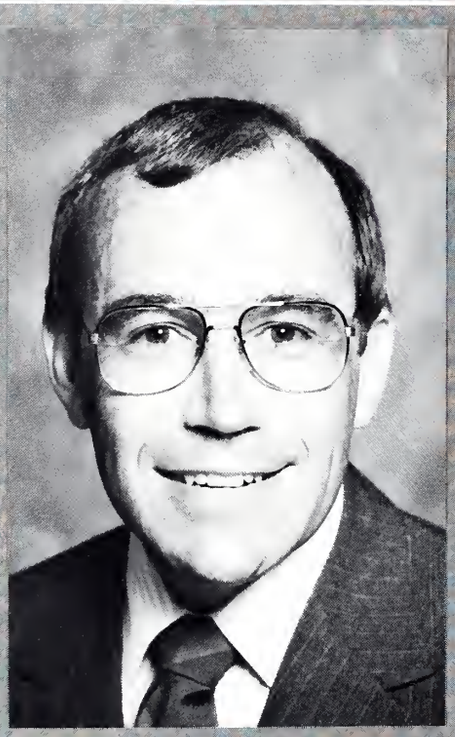
College of Business Administration



Tyrone Black
Acting Dean

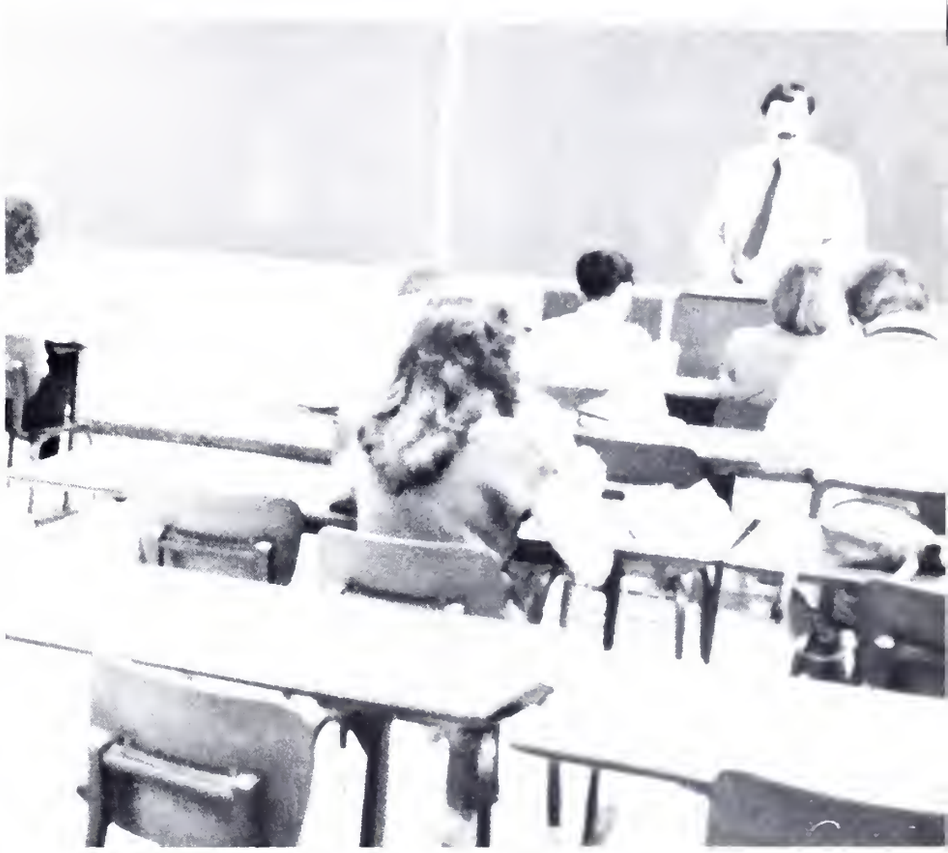
Debbie Broadhead, Richie Elkins, Kim Colpepper, Bill Massey, Tom Booth, Scooter Richards—Senators

The world of business is unique and dynamic, demanding a variety of skills and talents. USM's College of Business Administration helps meet the needs of business on every level by training students to become professionals in their fields. Graduates of the College secure competitive positions in both business and government. Drawing continuously from their foundational training, USM graduates prosper as government business administrators, accountants, and consultants among many other possibilities.

At the undergraduate level, the College's curriculum is built around a strong liberal arts background combined with specialization in the business field. After two years of liberal arts education, students focus their business training in the departments of Economics, Finance and General Business, Management and Marketing. Each of these departments carefully chooses its faculty and curriculum, maintaining the high standards that make USM's programs exceptional.

At the graduate level, the College of Business Administration offers the Master of Professional Accountancy and the Master of Business Administration. These programs, as well as the undergraduate programs, are prestigiously accredited by the American Assembly of Collegiate Schools of Business; the College is a member of the Southern Business Administration Association.

Whatever their business interests, USM students can be certain that the College of Business Administration is providing contemporary, professional training for success in a dynamic business environment.



College of Education and Psychology

James O. Schnur
Dean

Dawn Windham, Sabyne Hardy, Charlotte Poole
Senators

As evidenced by USM graduates across the nation, the College of Education and Psychology is among the finest training grounds in the country. Programs offered by the college produce excellent teachers, as well as successful legal and executive secretaries, office managers, social services directors and case workers, business and industry salespersons, clinical psychologists, and many other professionals.

A combination of specialized departments within the college and interaction with the public gives students a strong academic foundation and practical experience. The college is composed of the departments of Business Education, Counseling Psychology and Counselor Education, Curriculum and Instruction, Industrial and Vocational Education, Psychology, and Special Education. While promoting research, programs such as the Office of Student Teaching, the Psychology Center, the Center for Community Education, the Counseling Psycology Laboratory, and Children's Laboratory of Learning make valuable contributions to the public.

At a time when top quality teachers are much needed, USM's College of Education and Psychology strives to produce creative, well-educated teachers who are capable of teaching in any public or private school, college, or university. The college holds membership in the American Association of Teacher Education, and all undergraduate teacher education programs are fully accredited by the National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education.

Other programs in the college serve the needs of those seeking psychology and counseling careers, with full accreditation by the American Psychological Association.

College of Fine Arts

John E. Green
Dean

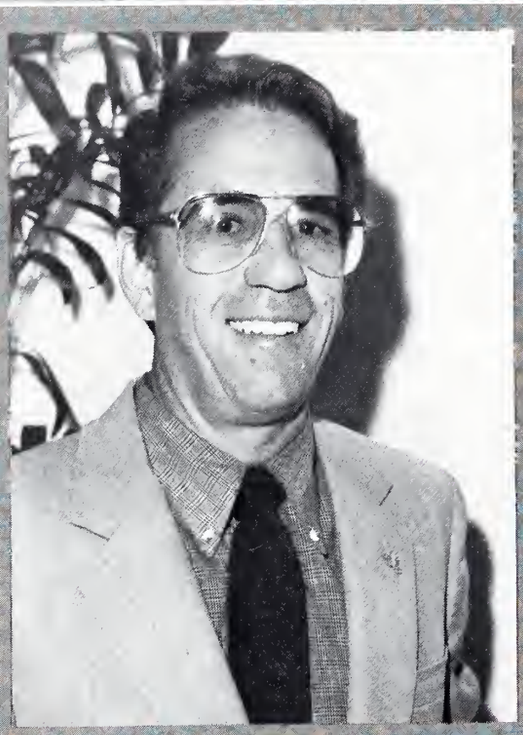
Ben Burnett
Senator

The University of Southern Mississippi's College of Fine Arts benefits not only Fine Arts majors, but the entire campus and community as well. Talent in the college is consistently exposed, helping students build skills and confidence while encouraging cultural activities. The college is comprised of the Department of Art, the Department of Theatre and Dance, and the School of Music.

In all departments the college encourages creativity and self-expression tempered with a combination of historical, theoretical, and performance studies. Both students and faculty participate in recitals, art exhibits, plays, and concerts; many of these activities have become traditions at USM. Programs sponsored by the Department of Art include the Annual Mississippi Artists' Juried Exhibition, the annual USM faculty and student exhibitions, and Summer Art Study in Italy, which gives art students a unique opportunity to study European art firsthand. The Department of Theatre and Dance offers such programs as the Summer Repertory Theatre, annual fall and spring dance concerts, and several musicals and theatrical performances. The School of Music holds annual choral and instrumental conductors' conferences, as well as faculty and student recitals and concerts open to the public.

Art, Music, or Theatre and Dance, students in the College of Fine Arts are building solid foundations in both academics and performance that will lead to future success.

School of Health, Physical Education, and Recreation



Walter F. Cooper
Dean

Bob Herrington
Senator

In today's fitness-conscious society, the demand for fitness experts is increasing. To meet the lifetime needs of the public, the University of Southern Mississippi's College of Health, Physical Education and Recreation is preparing students to become professionals in such fields as athletic coaching and teaching, community health education, business and industry fitness, therapy, and recreation management.

USM's athletic facilities, intramural activities, extramural sports clubs, and recreational services give students in the college practical experience in their field while serving the campus community's fitness and recreational needs. Among the facilities available to USM students and faculty are the Natatorium, tennis and racquetball courts, golf course, weight training facilities, and Lake Sehoy, which offers camping, waterfront, and equestrian facilities.

Besides the Department of Intramural-Recreational Sports, the school is composed of four other specialized departments. The Department of Athletic Administration and Coaching is designed to train coaches, sports administrators, and athletic trainers; this is the only program of its kind in the Southeast. The Department of Health and Safety Education offers both undergraduate and graduate level programs; the programs are designed to train professionals in the intellectual, psychological, and social aspects of personal, family, and community fitness. The Department of Physical Education prepares students for positions as elementary or secondary physical education teachers or as corrective therapists; this is one of the nation's ten accredited therapy programs. The Department of Recreation offers undergraduate and graduate level programs that focus on the wise development and use of natural resources, including recreation management and therapeutic recreation.

School of Home Economics

Allene G. Vaden
Dean

Laurie Mullis
Senator

The study of Home Economics has become a highly-sophisticated, professionally oriented field, and the University of Southern Mississippi's School of Home Economics is preparing students to confidently enter exciting, competitive careers in various areas. Faculty members, well-trained and experienced in their professions, give their students the full benefit of their professional and academic backgrounds. The curriculum in each department is designed to provide not only academic foundations but practical experience as well; facilities allowing interaction with the public are available in every field of study.

The School of Home Economics is composed of three distinguished departments. The Department of Environmental Design is composed of the specialty areas of Interior Design, Clothing Merchandising, and Clothing and Textiles. Each area of study in the college emphasizes confident creativity combined with practical application in the business world. The most traditional areas of home economics study are focused in the Department of Family Life Studies and Home Economics Education where students choose to emphasize either Home Economics Education or Home Economics in Business. Master's Degree and Specialist's Degree programs are offered in Home Economics Education. The Department of Institution Administration trains students to be professionals in service careers, such as Hotel Management, Restaurant Management and Tourism. The Charcoal Room on campus and the Southern Inn Motel are USM facilities where students operate in professional climates under faculty supervision.

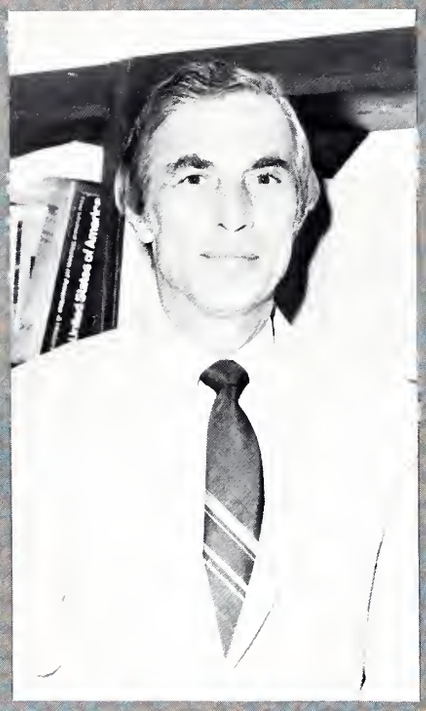
College of Liberal Arts



G. Terry Harper
Dean

Scooter Milbrook, Carol Ann Estes, Stan Buckley
Senators

The University of Southern Mississippi's College of Liberal Arts meets the academic needs of about 20,000 students per year; the college offers traditional and interdisciplinary programs that can be custom-suited to almost any student's educational pursuits. Most of the 150 members in the college hold doctoral degrees. In every area of study, students are encouraged to strengthen their intellectual abilities while pursuing their personal interests. Graduates of the College of Liberal Arts pursue a variety of traditional and dynamic careers, including foreign service, entertainment, philosophy, and anthropology. The Liberal Arts student continues to seek knowledge and to search for fresh interests long after earning a degree.

Interdisciplinary programs within the college administer majors and minors in Advertising, American Studies, Communication, Community and Regional Planning, Latin American Studies, Paralegal Studies, and Social Studies, as well as a minor emphasis in Asian Studies. Specialized undergraduate and graduate programs are available in the college's departments, which include Aerospace Studies, Criminal Justice, English, Foreign Languages, Geography and Area Development, History, Journalism, Military Science, Political Science, Philosophy and Religion, Radio, Television and Film, Sociology-Anthropology, Speech Communication, and Speech/Hearing Services. Each department emphasizes a broad-based curriculum that involves study, research, and application.

School of Library Service

Onva K. Boshears
Dean

Tim Dixon
Senator

The University of Southern Mississippi's School of Library Service trains students to become professional librarians by utilizing experience with the various kinds of print and non-print resources available. The school offers practical experience in library work through field trips, conferences and the use of USM's library.

Bachelor's and master's degrees are available in both teaching and non-teaching programs. The school is a member of the Association of American Library Schools, the American Library Association, the Mississippi Library Association and the Southeastern Library Association. The American Library Association accredits the library science graduate program.

The school, founded in 1976, was previously an academic program within the College of Education and Psychology. Students in the library profession are advised to major in other areas before studying library science since it is a combination field.

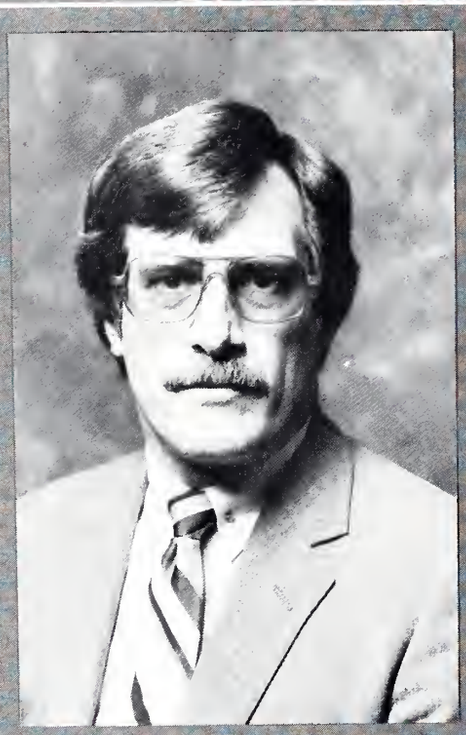
School of Nursing

Jerri L. Morgan
Dean

The University of Southern Mississippi's School of Nursing endeavors to provide modern, professional instruction to students; the college strives to prepare students to work as confident professionals in any of the various specialized areas of nursing. Three levels of study are available: the undergraduate level, the graduate level, and the continuing education program. Each of these programs provides an excellent environment for acuqiring both an academic foundation and practical experience in nursing. Baccalaureate graduates are fully prepared for the general practice of nursing in hospitals, community health agencies, and other health care agencies where nursing care is provided. At the graduate level students are able to specialize in a variety of fields; programs at the graduate level include the Master of Science in Psychiatric/Mental Health Nursing, Community Health Nursing, and Nursing Service Administration. Also available at the graduate level are role options in teaching, administration, or clinical specialization. The Continuing Education Program is a unique program that affords Registered Nurses educational opportunities to constantly update their training, keeping the nurses abreast of changes in their fast-paced field.

USM's School of Nursing offers programs in Hattiesburg, Gulf Park, and Meridian. The school is fully accredited by the National League for Nursing, and the Continuing Education program is accredited by the American Nurses Association.

College of Science and Technology



G. David Huffman
Dean

Erick Hueck, Bill Poole, David Sullivan, Robert Toole, Kayle Keys
Senators

Technology has become a vital part of today; the University of Southern Mississippi trains highly motivated professionals to meet the growing needs of our high-tech world. USM's College of Science and Technology boasts modern facilities, a young, well-educated faculty and a superior curriculum emphasizing science, technology, and mathematics. The college is designed to give students practical experience through learning labs specializing in individual instruction, co-op programs, and student assisted research programs. The curriculum combines classical courses with contemporary multidisciplinary areas to give students an understanding of industrial application and basic supervisory skills.

The five institutes of Environmental Science, Genetics, Microbiology and Related Sciences, Surface Coatings, and the Mississippi Polymer Institute, as well as the twelve departments of Biology, Chemistry, Computer Science and Statistics, Construction and Architectural Technology, Geology, Industrial Technology, Mathematics, Medical Technology, Physics, Astronomy, Polymer Science, and Science Education make up the University of Southern Mississippi's College of Science and Technology.

School of Social Work

Shirley J. Jones
Dean

Social work is concerned with the interactions and transactions between people and the institutions of society which affect the ability of people to accomplish life tasks; the profession is an expanding field of study in today's complex society. While social workers continue to serve in traditional settings, unique new applications in social services are emerging every day. While many continue to serve in welfare departments, private social service agencies, and health departments, new careers are developing in places such as hospitals, mental health agencies, school systems, and community-based agencies.

To meet the needs of an increasingly specialized field, the University of Southern Mississippi offers the only graduate level degree in social work in the state; this two-year program combines intense classroom work, as well as field experience which allows students to apply their knowledge to real-life situations.

The enitre purpose of the school is to prepare future social workers to practice professionally at an advanced level and to address the needs of individuals, families, groups, and organizations. The program is very effective; this is evidenced by the success of graduates in establishing secure careers that fit their own interests.

Honors College

Peggy Prenshaw
Dean

Established in 1976 as the Honors Center, the University of Southern Mississippi's Honors College has evolved into one of only fourteen Honors Colleges in the nation. USM's Honors College provides academic and financial opportunities to a select number of outstanding students each year. The aim of the college is to identify, encourage, and reward academic excellence in all fields and to serve students with various academic interests. The Honors College awards degrees cum laude, magna cum laude, and summa cum laude.

While honors students benefit from special courses and activities, they are by no means detached from regular university activities and extra-curricular programs on campus. The Honors College curriculum is designed to provide a challenging foundation for study in any field at the university. Students pursue regular undergraduate degrees while substituting honors courses for the normally prescribed core requirements.

The Honors College invites all university students to enroll in Honors Forum, a one hour course consisting of speakers, outstanding films, panel discussions, and other enrichment programs.

Eligibility requirements for the Honors College include an ACT score of 25 or higher, faculty recommendations, an extemporaneous essay, and a personal interview. Students wishing to graduate from the Honors College must take comprehensive exams in their fields of study and complete a senior project.

Administration

Dr. Aubrey K. Lucas

An interview with the President of the University of Southern Mississippi, Dr. Aubrey K. Lucas, revealed some of his thoughts about various events that occurred at USM during the 1985-86 school year.

Budget cuts and the closing of state universities have been major topics of discussion recently. When asked how he felt about the possible closings of two state universities and two professional programs by the legislature, Dr. Lucas replied, "The state is experiencing a large decrease in revenue. To compensate for this decrease, the governor and the leaders in the legislature decided to cut state support for higher education by $30,000,000. The Board of Trustees of USM has made a series of recommendations to the legislature regarding the closings and all degree completion branches within the state." Dr. Lucas refrained from judging the wisdom of the actions of the legislature, but he said that USM's off-campus programs are not only cost-efficient, but of high quality. "USM would be hurt if its degree completion programs are cut;" said Dr. Lucas, "we would lose 1,500 students which would prevent us from fulfilling an obligation to an important sector of the Mississippi population."

Also during 1986 a series of fires occurred on USM's campus. The first fire destroyed Dr. Clyde Ginn's office in the Administration Building. The next outbreaks were at the College of Business Administration and the George Hurst Building; both fires destroyed first floor offices. In response to the question of whether or not there is any relationship between the fires, Dr. Lucas said, "There is no evidence so far that the fires were intentional, just coincidental. The Department of Public Safety is inspecting all other buildings on campus as a safety precaution. The fire department has been very co-operative in their quick response to the calls."

Dr. Lucas referred to the 1982 Academic Progress Review when asked how he compared USM to other universities; the review "reported that not one program at USM was marginal, and no programs required phasing out due to lack of quality in education. Outside consultants report that we are in good condition and deserve commendation." Dr. Lucas stated, "USM receives $3,500 per student from the state. The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, for example, receives twice that amount, yet USM maintains programs that will compare to that university. We are not one of the top ten universities in the nation, but only three from the South are."

According to Dr. Lucas many improvements have been made at USM during 1985-86, "One major improvement has been the addition of new lights for the safety of students on campus. Constant improvements happen with the faculty. Our faculty's qualifications and achievements compare with the best in the nation. Success has also occurred with our Studies Abroad Program."

Dr. Lucas added, "USM is the largest university in the state in enrollment. The students, faculty, and staff generally all love it here; they want to see USM move forward and reach its destiny—to become even more distinguished."

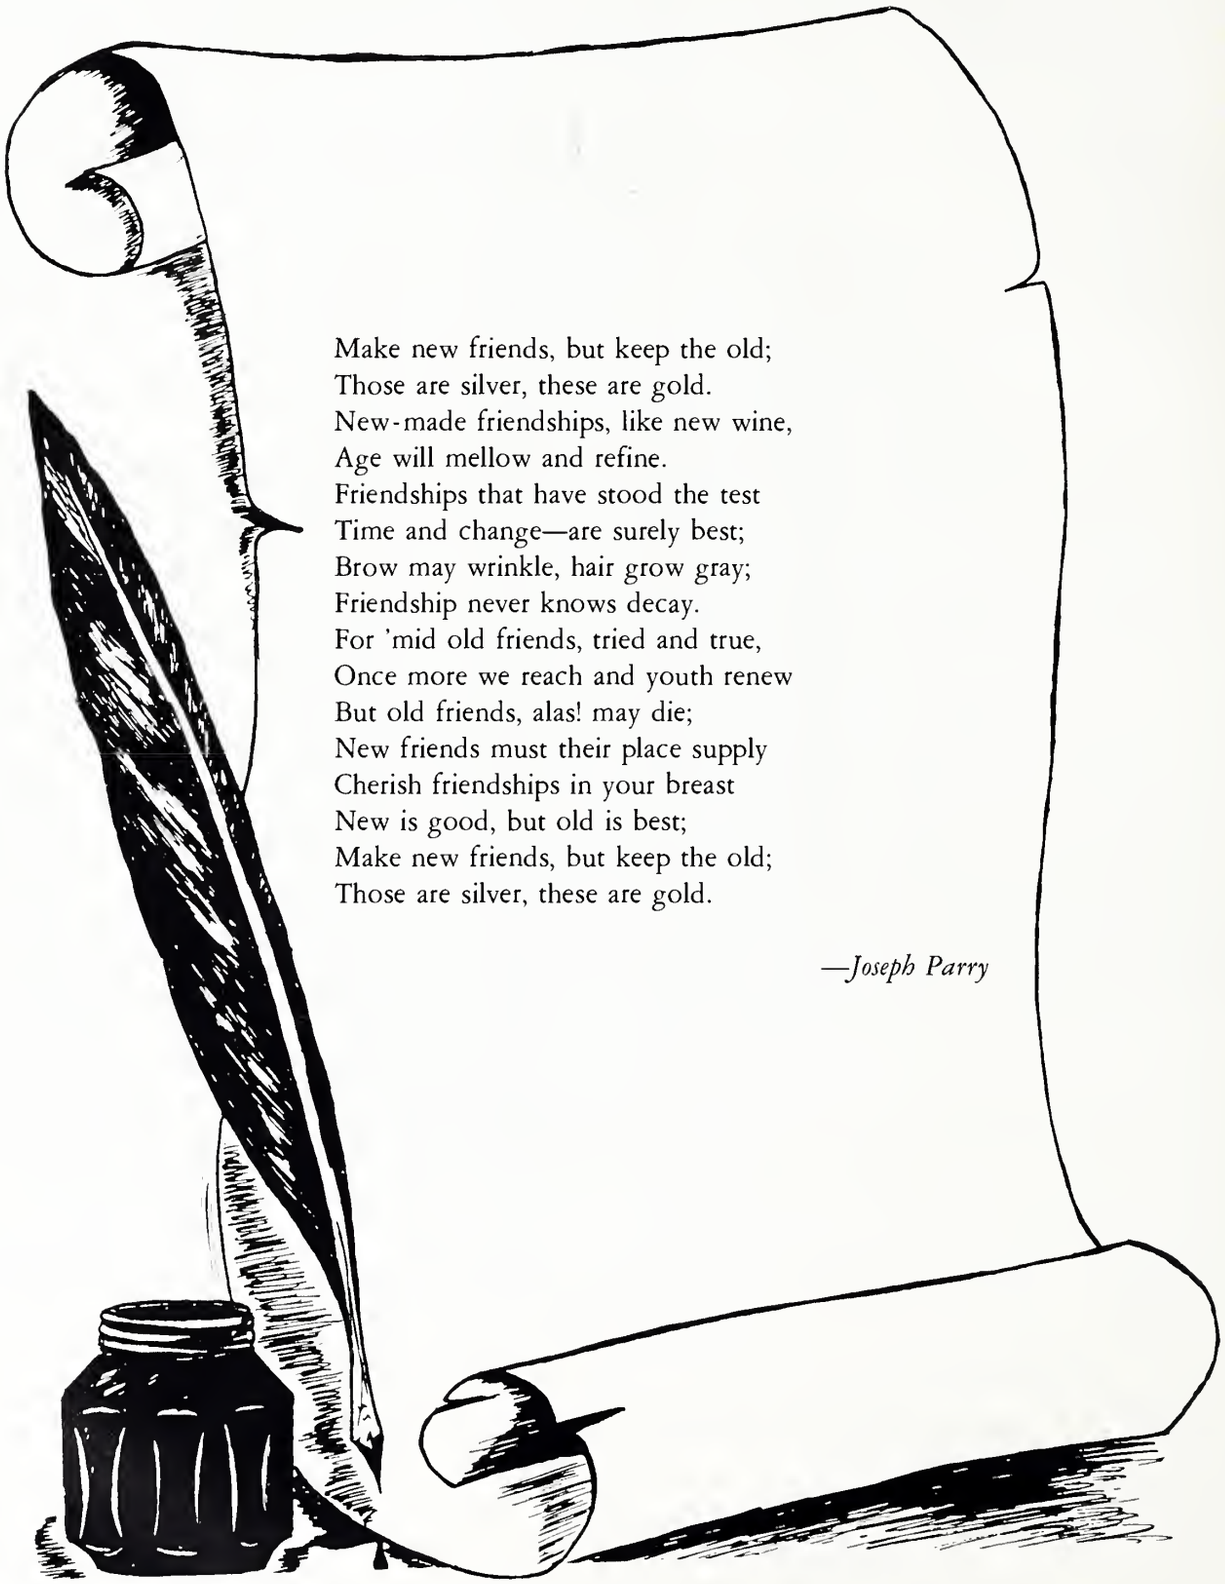
"New Friends and Old Friends"



Make new friends, but keep the old;
Those are silver, these are gold.
New-made friendships, like new wine,
Age will mellow and refine.
Friendships that have stood the test
Time and change—are surely best;
Brow may wrinkle, hair grow gray;
Friendship never knows decay.
For 'mid old friends, tried and true,
Once more we reach and youth renew
But old friends, alas! may die;
New friends must their place supply
Cherish friendships in your breast
New is good, but old is best;
Make new friends, but keep the old;
Those are silver, these are gold.

Challenger

"We are born for a higher
destiny than that of earth;
There is a realm where the rainbow never fades, where the stars will spread before us like islands that slumber on the ocean, and where the beings that pass before us like shadows will stay in our presence forever."
Edward Bulwer-Lytton

On January 28, 1986, seven lives were lost, hopes were destroyed and 1.2 million dollars of America's space program was demolished. Hundreds of spectators, including school children, parents, and other relatives gathered at Kennedy Space Center to witness and celebrate as America's first teacher-astronaut, Christa McAuliffe, began her journey into space. Seconds after lift-off the Challenger diminished into a white-gold puff of whirling smoke.

At first none of the spectators nor television viewers knew what had happened; they shaded their eyes and watched in nervous anticipation as an announcer explained that flight controllers were looking into the situation and that there was an "obvious major malfunction." When it was evident that the Challenger had exploded, America went into shock. Not even eight hours of tri-network coverage could explain the incident. Intense search and investigation crews began searching for a cause immediately.

Most of America's attention was focused on mourning the seven lost lives. Christa McAuliffe, the only non-professional aboard seemed the major focus. McAuliffe, a 37 year old New Hampshire high school teacher, was chosen from hundreds of other teachers to be the first educator in space. This program was initiated by Ronald Reagan; the purpose of the program was to provide students with an objective and well-rounded view of space exploration. Child psychologists have speculated that the tragedy will have a great impact on America's children.

The other astronauts killed include Greogg B. Jarros, 41, an aircraft payload specialist on his first flight; Ronald McNair, 36, America's second black man in space (1984); Michael Smith, 40, a graduate of the U.S. Naval Academy on his first flight; Ellison S. Onizuka, 39, America's first Hawaiian and/or Japanese in space (1985); Judith Resnick, 36, who held a PhD in electrical engineering; and Francis R. Scobee, 46, the commander of the flight.

In memory of the astronauts, U.S. flags were lowered to half-staff and signs with messages such as "We salute our Heroes. God Bless them all." were displayed across the country. Connie Moore, one of the five finalists chosen for the teacher-space program, was presented an American flag by the USM department of ROTC. Moore is a physics and Algebra teacher at Oak Grove High School in Hattiesburg.

Challenger made up one-fourth of the space program. Within two months of the tragedy, large parts of the shuttle were recovered by searchers.

Melting Pot Festival

Sponsored by Alpha Phi Omega service fraternity and the English Language Institute, the fourth annual Melting Pot Festival provided different nationalities a chance to display their unique cultures.

According to Jesse Bridges III, president of Alpha Phi Omega, the event involved elaborate planning which began three months in advance. Each nationality organizes a booth. Some groups collect photos, maps, artifacts, menageries and other remnants of the culture; other groups spend the three months practicing some type of performance.

The festival on February 22 was characterized by Japanese music and mounds of tasty food, which may have seemed a little strange to those who had never tasted the unique cuisine. A variety of exciting performances also entertained the spectators. Hiroshi Ochi, an engineering teaching assistant from Japan University demonstrated his style of chopping wood—he used his fists and elbows. Ho-Mum Jun and Hong Kean, two Korean students, performed a fencing match Korean style called kumdo.

Other groups represented were Malaysia, Vietnam, China, Egypt, Turkey, Iran, and Saudi Arabia.

G. David Huffman: "Technology: Development and Transfer in the 1980's"

The impacts of robotics was the focus of Dr. Huffman's lecture as he explained the implications of technological trends on economic development. Dr. Huffman explained the robotics can be utilized to eliminate some forms of manual labor, to aid in design processes, and to streamline manufacturing and decision-making processes. The automotive industry is one example of an industry that is turning to robotics to speed the manufacturing process. Critics of robotics are worried that robotics will completely replace human labor. Some human tasks will be displaced or deleted, but robotics will become an industry in itself; thus, jobs will be created in robotics production and maintenance. Universities will play a major role in technological advances by training new workers. Dr. Huffman feels that universities inevitably will draw closer to industry and the two will work side by side. Dr. Huffman stated that new technological techniques pose social, economic, and scientific problems, but there is no returning to the past. The forward movement of technology cannot be halted, and solutions must be found to deal with the accompanying problems of technological advances.

John R. Harsh: "The Sleeping Brain"

Dr. Harsh addressed major discoveries in the areas of sleep research, sleep disorders, and current research at USM's sleep laboratory. Sleep was once considered a near-death condition, but we now know that sleep is a dynamic process acting as a second life to the conscious. Life as we know it should be divided into two areas under normal conditions—awake and asleep. Medical disorders were once believed to be the causes of sleep disorders such as bruxism, or teeth-grinding; apnea, the inability to sleep and breath at the same time; insomnia and excessive sleepiness. Dr. Harsh stated that this was untrue; people can be functionally normal during the day and suffer from a disorder at night. He believes that the prevalence of disorders are reminders that humans live in a high-tech society in primitive human bodies. Researchers at USM use electrodes to monitor sleep patterns and record vital functions; the data is then used to answer questions concerning sleep disorders. One study revealed that reserachers could control a subject's behavior through stimulus representation. One possible use of this would be the use of behavioral treatment instead of surgery to cure some sleep disorders.

Shirley Jones: "Changes in the Societal Perceptions of Women as Visionaries . . . "

A visionary was defined as one who accepts challenges to develop new ideas and makes full use of individual creativity. Woman's new role as a visionary depends on the expansion of options available to her and her willingness to "tilt at windmills," which refers to Don Quixote's battles against large obstacles. Dr. Jones stated that the perception of women as visionaries is often negative, but as the concept is analyzed it will include flexibility, creativity, leadership, and other positive connotations. Dr. Jones showed a slide presentation of her visit to London and her trip to the United Nations International Women's Conference held at the University of Nairobi. During her journey, 350 questionnaries were distributed to women in England and Kenya to further research for Dr. Jones's new book, Women from LaMancha. Dr. Jones encourages women to take chances and to aim for high goals, taking advantage of all choices offered because, "Where there is no vision, the people perish."

Luigi Zaninelli: "Musical Improvisation, Musical Composition: Is There a Difference?"

Professor Zaninelli defined parlor improvisation as "a series of cliches that deserve to be dead, but have been resurrected." In other words, the music goes exactly where the listener thought it was going. He used a live demonstration on a grand piano to illustrate this point. True improvisation involves a spontaneous theme and variation, never knowing what direction the music will take. Zaninelli stated that one is frightened and insecure when truly improvising; this creates an excitement and tension that the audience is able to feel. He compared the "terrors" of improvisation to walking on a highwire. When discussing his role as a composer, he said that composition was spelling out improvisation and capturing it on paper. He noted that he never plays a composition exactly the same as he has before and cannot play what he has written. To illustrate this Stanley Waldoff played one of Zaninelli's pieces; then Zaninelli improvised the composition. Professor Zaninelli said that a composer is not a pianist who plays a piano—a composer makes use of the piano as a tool.

S. Eugene Barnes: "Ethical Dilemmas in Health Promotion"

Dr. Barnes defined health as "a state of complete mental, physical, and emotional well-being." Most people are not interested in health for the sake of health—they want to be "cosmetically healthy" by looking trim and healthy, or they are trying to increase their life expectancy. There are a large number of health fads led by health evangelists that burst onto the scene, but when the initial interest wanes, another fad takes its place. One must be on the watch for health charlatans. Dr. Barnes has published numerous articles relating to ethics in health education and is recognized as an authority on public health issues.

During the 1960's when Barnes first became involved in health promotion by working in a drug abuse program most health campaigns revolved around scare tactics and trying to educate people about serious health hazards. There seemed to be little progess, and a study showed that there is a negligible relationship between knowledge and behavior. Current tactics emphasize attitude and behavior, not knowledge.

Dr. Barnes emphasized the fact that human wellness concerns not only physical well-being, but mental, social and spiritual well-being as well.

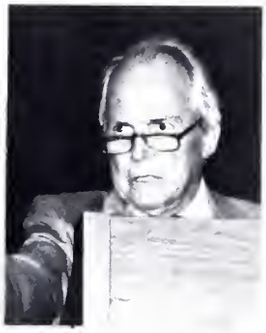
Charles Moorman: "Yet Som Men Say . . . That Kynge Arthure ys Nat Dede."



The legend of King Arthur has been passed down and developed in the oral tradition; it is a mixture of legends, history, and myth. The various appearances of the famous story reflect the changing styles of society that occurred in each author's lifetime. The authors remained basically true to the original sotry, but they restructured and adapted the story to satisfy their individual audiences. Dr. Moorman cited passages from several novels to illustrate the unique ways authors portrayed certain scenes from the story.

The most popular forms of Arthurian legends today are those which have abandoned medieval ideas. Those authors who try to rigidly adhere to medieval ideas will almost certainly fail to gain commercial success. Dr. Moorman feels that modern novelists should "rejoice in the freedom of fiction" and feel free to make changes and to add extravagant gestures.

Dr. Moorman stated that the best Arthurian literature is "that which is contemporaneous with its own age." This approach ensures that the legend of King Arthur will be kept fresh and alive in the future generations.

James H. Wolfe: "Law in International Society"

Dr. James Wolfe stressed the need for an international code of laws that would be followed by all countries. Some critics of an international system of law falsely believe that sufficient armaments enable a country to ignore other instruments of foreign affairs. Others say that international law is irrelevant for newly independent Third World countries who believe that treaties imposed upon them in order to gain independence are invalid and only treaties made by the new state are valid. Wolfe used the hostage crisis in Iran as an example of a new government refusing to stand behind a former government's treaties and policies.

The World Court can act to legitimize international law, but the laws can only exist when the court has mandatory and executive authority. Some countries refuse to adjudicate to World Court rulings; for example, the United States refused to adhere to rulings on matters concerning Central America. Dr. Wolfe stated that since the international system is so primitive, the United States should support it by setting an example and by strengthening international institutions in which the law rests.

There is a need for rules in world politics; each country should realize its own interests are best served when it adheres to international laws. Dr. Wolfe concluded the lecture by stating that good law and good policy go together; otherwise, a stalemate is reached.

Frances A. Karnes: "Dimensions of Giftedness"

Dr. Karnes discussed the education of the gifted and talented in the state of Mississippi, the various dimensions of gifted individuals, and studies of gifted subjects that have been conducted at USM. Mississippi has a state law that allows counties to have gifted programs, but the state does not have a law that requires school districts to provide services for the gifted students. Dr. Karnes underlined the need for legislation that would require programs for gifted education. A correlation between physical fitness and intellectual functioning has been observed in gifted children; this negates the old myth of strong body—weak mind. Gifted children tend to have positive self-concepts, highly developed ethical codes, and well-defined values. Gifted males and females differed in personality traits and other areas of development. The Center for Gifted Studies at USM works with local school districts to evaluate current programs, make recommendations for improvements, and implement new programs. Services and seminars for teachers of the gifted are also provided. Dr. Karnes urged concerned citizens and parents to advocate programs for the gifted students and to push for state and national legislation in this matter.

Miss Southern 1986

Sharon Bentz

On Saturday, January 25, Twila Williams, Miss Southern 1985 walked down the runway one last time. The thirteen contestants waited anxiously as they wondered who the next Miss Southern would be. The contestants were judged in swimsuit competition, evening gown competition, talent competition, and an interview with the judges.

Sharon Bentz, a senior from Biloxi, was chosen to wear the crown for 1986. A 21-year-old Business Administration major, Sharon performed the song "Forever" in the talent competition and placed first in the swimsuit competition.

Alternates included Connie Mitchell of Picayune, first alternate and winner of the talent competition; Stacey Graves of Hattiesburg, second alternate; Donna Ginn of Atlanta, Georgia, third alternate; and Gail Davis of Hattiesburg, fourth alternate. Other winners were Cathy Parkman who was chosen Miss Congeniality and Monique Brooks who received the Director's Award.

Sponsored by the Associated Student Body, the 40th annual pageant was centered around USM's 75th Anniversary. All entertainment was provided exclusively by USM students and faculty. Nan Sumrall, Miss Mississippi 1985, opened the pageant with her rendition of "Woman in the Moon." Twila Williams also entertained; Ken Waltman performed duets with each of the beauties. Dr. Joe Paul, dean of Student Development served as master of ceremonies. The USM Jazz Lab Band, directed by Raoul Jerome, filled the Performing Arts Center with live music.

Other competitors in the pageant were Leah Friend, Donna Gilmore, Nancy Jo Buntyn, Connie Hollingsworth, Mary Meador, and Penni Tharpe.

Mississippi Beauties

Miss America
Susan Akin

A fourth Mississippi Beauty was crowned Miss America when Susan Akin of Meridian received the crown in 1985. Miss Akin, a 21-year-old senior at the University of Mississippi, was chosen to win by computer analysis a few days prior to the pageant. The 35-22-35 figured blonde captured the swimsuit competition; she dazzled the judges in the talent contest with her rendition of "You're My World." Susan's thoughts upon being crowned were that she had finally captured her dream; she referred to her coronation walk as the "ultimate" experience. "I did it. I finally did it," she said. Susan has been in pageants since the age of five.

Other Mississippi Beauties who shared the Miss America title include Mary Ann Mobley of Brandon, 1959; Lynda Mead of Natchez, 1960; and Cheryl Prewitt of Ackerman, 1980.

Miss Mississippi
Nan Sumrall

When Susan Akin won the Miss America title, USM's Nan Sumrall was crowned Miss Mississippi for 1985. The 20-year-old Hattiesburg resident has kept a full schedule since that day, traveling statewide to fulfill her glamorous position.

While reducing her course load at USM, Nan is still pursuing her Communication Degree. Her reign may postpone her graduation date, but Nan says "it has opened so many doors and provided so many new opportunities that there are no disadvantages to this honor." Nan hopes that her experience as Miss Mississippi will benefit her desire to have a career as a sports journalist; perhaps this position will enable her to work at the 1988 Olympic Games.

Nan says that she loves representing USM as Miss Mississippi, especially since USM had not claimed this honor for several years before her victory. "I want to give back to USM some of the benefits it has given me," Nan said.

Mississippi's Junior Miss 1986
Dee Dee Patterson

February 2, 1985, Dee Dee Patterson was crowned Mississippi's Junior Miss. After capturing both the local and state titles, Dee Dee advanced to America's Junior Miss finals in Mobile, Alabama, where she was chosen 3rd alternate to America's Junior Miss. The Junior Miss contestants are judged in the areas of poise and appearance, scholastics, physical fitness, talent, and judges' interviews.

Dee Dee's hard work and effort were rewarded when she won $13,000 worth of scholarships, which she is now applying to her education at the University of Southern Mississippi.

Mrs. America
Donna Russell

Donna Russell, a brown-eyed brunette from Brandon, Mississippi, was crowned Mrs. America in 1985. She has been married for ten years and has two children. The University of Mississippi graduate works as a free lance model; she enjoys emceeing beauty pageants and benefit fashion shows, aerobic dancing, nautilus weight program, needlework, singing, dancing, and attending sporting events with her family. She is also involved in various community activities. Mrs. Russell believes, "A woman's primary role is to create a climate for individual growth in her home. She needs to be sensitive to her family's psychological raw spots and give them each lots of love strokes."

Mrs. Mississippi
Carolyn Duren

A University of Southern Mississippi graduate became Mrs. Mississippi in 1985. Carolyn Duren, a resident of Edwards is a visual merchandising manager; she has dark brown hair and brown eyes. She has been married for two years. A drawing and painting major, Carolyn enjoys all types of crafts and art related activities, water sports, working with pageants, and antiques. She has modeled at the local, regional, and national levels. As well as being chosen Mrs. Mississippi, Carolyn won the first place award in the photogenic phase of competition in the Mrs. Mississippi pageant.

USM's Yearbook Soars to its 60th Anniversary

USM's first annual was published in 1914, four years after Mississippi Normal College opened its doors. Many changes have taken place since 1914. When the first yearbook was published there were no greek organizations, only literary societies, the YMCA and the YWCA. Sports consisted of the basic four: football, basketball, baseball and track. Only five buildings represented the small school whose purpose was to qualify teachers for Mississippi public schools.

Because of the small size of the college, all of the annuals until 1931 were very personalized. Each member of the diploma or senior class was individually represented with a short biography next to his picture. One book even published essays written by each senior student.

The biggest revolution took place around 1940 when the yearbook's name was changed to the Southerner. Until 1940 the annual was called Neka Camon or New Spirit. Also, at this time the university offered its first bachelor of arts degree and changed its name to Mississippi Southern College. The yearbooks in the late 1930's and early 1940's began to show more creativity. The opening sections emphasized the theme of the book, and candids became more widely used.

By 1950 a sprinkling of color was being used in the opening section and on special pages. Copy became more concentrated on student life and politics in the mid 1960's and 1970's. In some editions the opening section boasts photographs of prominent Mississippi politicians. The annuals of the 1980's vary little from those of the 1970's. The most notable difference is the format of the expressions of creativity. While the yearbooks in the 1980's use modern graphics; the annuals of the 1970's used colorful words and ideas.

USM yearbooks have not been published successively since 1914. In 1918 the staff did not publish an annual because of World War I, and only one pamphlet-sized issue was produced for the years 1938 and 1939. For reasons not known, no annual was published between 1920 and 1931.

Mr. William A. Benson, Jr.

Mr. William Benson, a representative of Herff Jones Yearbooks who had once been a vice-president of the former Benson Printing Company, devoted much of his life to the production of the Southerner. His companies have printed the University of Southern Mississippi's yearbook for the last 35 years. Mr. Benson was not only a valuable business partner, but also a close friend and supporter of the University. Mr. Benson's generation produced the last of the "true southern gentlemen" and he will be missed. Mr. Benson was a graduate of Vanderbilt University where he was yearbook editor, a member of the wrestling team, and a member of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity. He was a U.S. Army Air Force captain in World War II, and at one time served as an instructor in an officer's training school at what was then Mississippi Southern College. He was an active member of West End Methodist Church in Nashville.

After a brief bout with cancer, Mr. William (Bill) Benson passed away on May 19, 1986.

Rock & Roll Video Party

March 25 the University of Southern Mississippi's Union Board hosted the Chevrolet Rock & Roll Video Party in the University Union Coffeeshop. The event is sponsored by Chevrolet and CBS records. T-shirts, rock posters, and albums were given away. The albums were those of groups such as Huey Lewis and the News and Bruce Springsteen. The proceeds from the party went to the T.J. Martell Foundation for Leukemia and Cancer Research.

"Delicious and Refreshing" . . . "Coke is it!"

"Coca-Cola," the world's best-known trademarked product, is asked for more than 335 million times a day; the product is in more than 155 countries around the world.

The product originated in May of 1886 in Atlanta, Georgia when pharmacist Dr. John Styth Pemberton first produced the syrup for "Coca-Cola." The new beverage was first sold at the soda fountain of Jacob's Pharmacy for 5¢ a glass. Frank M. Robinson, Dr. Pemberton's partner, suggested the name "Coca-Cola" because he thought that "the two C's would look well in advertising."

"Coca-Cola" was first bottled by Joseph A. Biedenharn of Vicksburg, Mississippi, in 1894. Biedenharn, a candy merchant, discovered that putting "Coca-Cola" in bottles would make the beverage easier to serve at picnics.

"Coca-Cola" celebrated its 100th year on May 8, 1986. During the five day period of May 6-10, 1986, The Coca-Cola Company held a worldwide meeting of Company employees, bottlers and major customers in Atlanta's World Congress Center to celebrate the 100th birthday of the product "Coca-Cola." The festivities culminated with a huge parade down famous Peachtree Street.

In 1985 the makers of "Coca-Cola" created a formula that they thought was even better than the original drink. "The best has been made even better," said the chairman of the board and chief executive officer of The Coca-Cola Company. Roberto C. Goizueta. Goizueta added, "Consumers in blind taste tests all across the continent have told us they prefer the new taste of "Coca-Cola" to the original by an overwhelming majority." They had discovered the new taste while attempting to perfect the taste of "diet Coke."

Adhering to its commitment of marketing only the best, the makers of "Coca-Cola" began distributing the new formula in May of 1985. "Our extensive data convinced us that this formula had achieved a new plateau of taste superiority," said Mr. Goizueta. The stripes on the familiar red can changed from white to silver, and the distinctive taste went from sweet to sweeter.

Actor and comedian Bill Cosby introduced the new taste to consumers all over the country in televised commercials. By August 1985 the makers of "Coca-Cola" began distributing "Coca-Cola classic." "Coca-Cola classic" preserves the soft drink's original and well-loved formula. Consumers can now enjoy "Coke" and "Coca-Cola classic," as well as "diet Coke" and "cherry Coke."

The Coca-Cola Company also produces "TAB," "Sprite," "Fresca," "Mr. PiBB," "Mellow Yello," "Fanta" and "Hi-C brand" soft drinks.

Oklahoma!

Oklahoma! was performed November 20-24 by the College of Fine Arts. Oklahoma!, written by Richard Rodgers and Oscar Hammerstein II and conducted by Blaine Quarnstrom, is a romantic musical with a comical twist.

Oklahoma! takes place in Indian territory which has just been named Oklahoma. The stage was turned back in time as the characters dressed in cowboy boots, farmer hats, and gingham dresses.

The story centers around Curly, a handsome cowboy, and Laurey, a pretty but stubborn girl. Curly wants to take Laurey to the Skidmore Social in "the currey with the fringe on top." But acting as a typical young girl, Laurey goes to the social with Jud because she doesn't want Curly to know she really likes him.

Of course, jealousy sets in and Curly asks Aunt Eller to the social. As the competition goes on, Laurey has a dream in which Jud kills Curly and this is brought to life by the dancers and special lighting techniques.

Eventually, Laurey and Curly decide to get married. But at the wedding Jud returns to stop the marriage. Jud is accidentally killed in the scuffle, but Curly is not held responsible for his death. And so, Laurey and Curly "live happily ever after."

There was a tremendous response to the play from students and the community. The performance of the actors showed the true talent of many USM students.

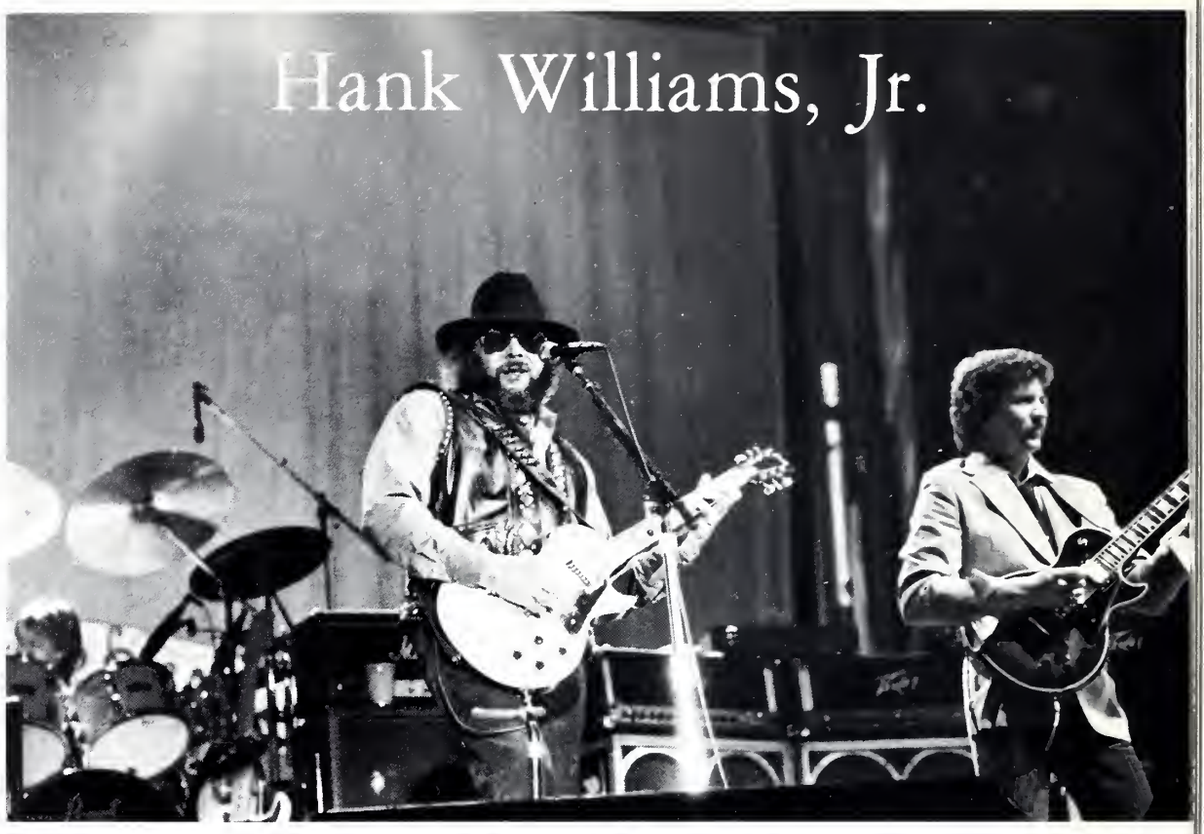
Hank Williams, Jr.



& Lacy J Dalton

The October 11th concert opened with up-and-coming musician, Lacy J. Dalton. Dalton, dressed in a light blue leather outfit, captured the crowd of cowboy hats, plaid button-downs, and western boots. The audience's cheers of approval, shrieks of whistles, and rhythmic applauses accompanied songs such as "You Satisfy Me," "Fast Moving Train," and "Sixteenth Avenue," a song about song-writers for which Lacy is best known.

After Lacy J. Dalton left the stage, the Coliseum darkened; many members of the audience "flicked their bics." When the stage lights brightened again, there was no sign of Hank. The Bama Band performed a few numbers including, "When You Get on the Whiskey, Let Someone Else Drive"; then the star appeared. Wearing a black cowboy hat and dark sunglasses, Hank began his performance with "All My Rowdy Friends Are Coming Over Tonight." He sang more of his country favorites before his band left him on the stage to perform solo. He confused the audience with a medley of blues before he quickened his pace with more of his country hits including "Dixie On My Mind" and the hilarious, "Why Do the Best-Looking Girls Have Real Ugly Friends?"

The band returned and joined Williams in playing "Country Boy Kansas Bound" and "Sweet Home Alabama." Hank then changed his style again as he payed tribute to dead rock stars, Lynard Skynard's "On the Hunt" and ZZ Topp's "La Grange" were among some of the songs Hank performed.

Not only did Hank Jr.'s style of music change several times during the concert, Hank also changed instruments. He played instruments ranging from the steel guitar to the tom-tom drum. He added a bit of excitement to his exit by shooting a blank from a rifle and yelling "Let's Boogie!" as he left the stage.

Halloween

Every year on October 31, the calm exteriors of students are shed, and the "monsters" lying dormant inside reappear. USM students transform into witches and goblins for all night excursions of partying and road-tripping. One never knows what to expect when the moon is full and the activities have begun.

Halloween is also a time for organizations to raise money for United Way during the Union Board's Annual Halloween Carnival which featured a space walk, apple bobbing, a spook house, a kissing booth, a cake walk, and various other games and booths.

—Renee McGuffee

Heart

Taking the stage in full force, Heart captured the audience with their energy and new style. Playing a set that included many of their old hits, the group won the "hearts" of new listeners as well as old fans from their "Dreamboat Annie" days.

Heart made a tremendous come-back in 1985 with their new members, a new album, and their outrageous new look that portrays their unique style of rock-and-roll. Also, the stage created a very mystical mood in which the Wilson sisters performed such hits as "Crazy on You," "Dreamboat Annie," and "Bebe LeStrange." The crowd remained standing throughout most of the concert as Heart also performed new hits such as "Never" and "What About Love."

Opening for Heart was the relatively new group, Autograph. The group had the audience on the edges of their seats with their true rock-and-roll spirit.

Susan Green of Mid-South Productions worked along with the UAC to bring Heart to USM. Miss Green said that our UAC was one of the most organized and energetic groups she had ever worked with on a college campus.

The Ririe Woodbury Dance Company is a group of world travellers from Texas. They spent two and a half days at the University of Southern Mississippi and performed a concert on Friday night October 18. The event was sponsored by the University Activities Council.

Dance Concert

Change to Eden

This Gulf Coast-based band put on a show at the Thursday September 5 pep rally that was everything a college-oriented concert should be. Balancing their own slick, but accessible, originals with the best of popular tunes by such artists as Simple Minds, U2, Tears for Fears, The Fixx, and the Police, the band clearly took pleasure in performing for an audience made up largely of people their age.

Lead singer Mark Smith has one of the most powerful and versatile voices; his distinctive sound defies comparison to that of any other performer. Todd Read (bass guitar) and Gary Smith (lead guitar) provided a strong wall of guitar accompaniment and engaged in a biting round of "dueling guitars" on CTE's own excellent "Paris in June." Imaginative dabbling with electronic gadgetry by keyboardist David Paul Windham gave an experimental dimension to the otherwise straightforward rocker "Keeping Up with the Jones'," a CTE number that was one of the standouts of the evening. Drummer Forrest Miller took the microphone to sing a cover of the Shieks' "Anybody Seen My Baby," aptly proving that instrumental and vocal talents need not be mutually exclusive.

Change to Eden concluded the evening's performance with an announcement of good news for CTE fans. The group recently signed a two-year contract with Crescent Moon Talent, a Nashville agency that will be handling future band bookings.

Southern Exposure

Southern Exposure, the University of Southern Mississippi's performing troupe, is sponsored by the Public Relations Office. They light the stage this year with their "We've Got Stars" show of 1985-86 which is highlighted with "the songs of yesterday and today and the stars that gave them to us." From the energetic opening to the melodious closing, this year's show is packed with the best of pop, broadway, and country music.

One of the group's members, Jill Bailey, says that Southern Exposure is her time to shine; she enjoys the opportunity for expression and the satisfaction that a good performance brings.

Southern Exposure members are also involved in other campus activities and must constantly juggle their schedules to accomodate the numberous practices and performances. Tim Breland, the director of the group, commented, "This has probably been the easiest group of students I've ever had to work with; this is partly due to the fact that almost 70% of this year's cast, band, and crew has had at least four semesters of experience prior to the 1985-86 season." For the members of Southern Exposure all the hours of practice and preparation are rewarded by the excitement of the numerous audiences that this upbeat group entertains.

Sorority Rush

"Rush" is the appropriate word for the process by which the sororities choose new pledges. Whether you are going through rush or doing the rushing, it is a very hectic, time-consuming week.

The work that goes into rush is tremendous. Girls meet on separate occasions to practice skits and songs, work on props, and psyche themselves up for the rush that awaits them. Hard work and long hours are given to the most important function a sorority will do together as sisters.

No matter how tired or scared the girls may feel, it is one of the most exciting times they will experience in college. It is a time to choose a group of girls that will be called sisters for the rest of their lives.

But in the long run when rush is over and Bid Day has arrived, girls will express their joys, their tears, and even their relief for a "job well done."

Chi Omega Songfest

The 34th annual Chi Omega Songfest was held December 3 in the Reed Green Coliseum. The Christmas Spirit was evident in all seventeen organizations that participated. The ladies of Delta Gamma were very proud to win the competition for the third consecutive year with their performance of "Boogie Woogie Santa Claus of Delta Gee." The men of Kappa Sigma won first place with their performance of the ever popular "Joy to the World." Delta Delta Delta and Delta Tau Delta were the second place winners. Third place winners were Kappa Delta and Alpha Tau Omega. Kappa Alpha and Sigma Nu fraternities added a bit of a comic twist to the evening. Angie Sliman, President of Chi Omega, presented Joe Cracraft of Special Olmypics a check for $2030.00. Suzanne Lumpkin was coordinator for this spectacular event. This Songfest was held in Memoriam of Leigh Anne Campbell, a past Songfest director.

Miss Panhellenic 1986

Anita Phillips

Anita Phillips of Biloxi was crowned the first Miss Panhellenic in the Alpha Tau Omega sponsored event on February 18. Miss Phillips, a member of Pi Beta Phi sorority is a junior majoring in broadcast journalism. She sang "You're Gonna Hear From Me" in the talent competition.

The Miss Panhellenic contest was begun by the Alpha Tau Omega's to raise funds for charitable organizations and to recognize Greek women who make outstanding contributions to their sororities.

The contestants were judged in the areas of talent, evening gown and judges' interviews, as well as their individual contributions to their sorority and to USM.

Michelle Hale, representing Delta Gamma was chosen first alternate and Lisa Jenkins of Delta Delta Delta was named second alternate. Judges for the contest were Mayor Sam Lindsey of Laurel; Camille Gilliland, Miss Mississippi-U.S.A.; and Ed Morgan, Hattiesburg City Council President.

The proceeds from the contest were donated to the Forest-Lamar County United Way. Mike Owens, ATO president and master of ceremonies for the event, stated that he enjoyed working with the contest because "ATO can lend a hand to help the United Way continue many of its fine programs such as the Rape Crisis Center and the Abused Family Program."

Jr. Panhellenic Talent Show

The University of Southern Mississippi's Junior Panhellenic Council sponsored their annual talent show on Tuesday, January 18. Kym Housley and Suzanne Lumpkin won first place for their dance routine. Other winners were Jana Kay Mills and Reggie Smith, second place; Mark Houston and Hank Phillips, third place; Ebony Essence, fourth place; and Freddie Huddleton, fifth place.

The proceeds were placed in the Junior Panhellenic Scholarship Fund. Three $100.00 scholarships were awarded to Greek women who pledged a sorority in the fall of 1985.

Delta Gamma Anchorsplash

Swimming away with first place in the 1986 Delta Gamma Anchorsplash were Pi Beta Phi and Elam Arms dormitory. Coming in second were Chi Omega and Sigma Nu, and the third place winners were Delta Delta Delta and Pi Kappa Alpha. Other awards received were given to Charlie Henderson, Mr. Anchorsplash and to Janet Vega, Miss Eyes.

Proceeds from Anchorsplash were given to the handicapped students at USM and to Delta Gamma's philanthropy, aid to the blind and sight conservation.

Sigma Chi Derby Day

The men of Sigma Chi hosted their first annual Derby Day April 1-5. Derby Day consisted of several competitions including Derby Chase, A Chorus Line, and Derby Darling. The ladies of Chi Omega won the event. Phi Mu finished second, and Kappa Delta came in third overall. Julie Johnson, a member of Kappa Delta, was selected Derby Darling, Dawn Broadus (Phi Mu) and Suzanne Lumpkin (Chi O) tied for runners-up.

The proceeds were given to the United Way. The Sigma Chi's hope to continue this event annually, and they would especially like to thank each sorority for its participation and hard work that made Derby Day a success.

Spring Fever '86

As the temperature rises so does the fever of Spring. Books find permanent rest on dusty shelves, grades falter, and students find solace basking in the bright sun. The rustic browns and reds of fall and winter turn to cheerful pinks, purples, yellows and greens.

The University Activities Council provided "The Ultimate Enticement" by sponsoring bands, comedians, and movies during the month of April. The featured performers included Mary Wong Comedy (a three man comedy team from Chicago), Webb Wilder (band), Denny Dent (Rock and Roll Art), Carl Rosen (piano player/comedian), Mark Wenzell (mime), John Ferrentino (comedian/magician), Voltage Brothers (show band), and Jack Gallagher (comedian).

Whatever the symptoms, a Spring without "the fever" is a Spring without fun; let's hope they never find a cure!

That Scoundrel Scapin

Spectators at USM's dinner theatre in April were treated to a life-like scenario of 17th century Italian life. Troupes of traveling players visited the tables and taunted the guests. The audience laughed heartily as the energetic characters clumsily teased and chased each other around the tables and on the stage, falling and tripping over everything in sight.

After these stock characters left the scene the plot of That Scoundrel Scapin began. The protagonist, played by Todd Rudolph Long, was a scoundrel caught in the middle of a dilemma between his employers and their sons. Scapin, a small, street-smart fellow and his over-sized, over-emotional friend, Sylvester, were employed to supervise two young men destined to get into trouble. When the sons, Octavio and Leander, fell into forbidden love with unsuitable women, Scapin had to defend them against their fathers. In the style of commedia dell'arte-slapstick, the play tells the story of how Scapin attempts to save his friends while maintaining good relations with his employers.

Captured in a mixture of clutzy fools, a hilariously brutal nurse, two domineering yet some-what naive fathers, a beautiful French woman, and a seductive gypsy girl, the plot unfolds into a coincidental twist that leaves poor Scapin "holding the hat."

Jean Baptiste Poquelin, better known as Moliere, wrote Scapin to be played for fun. Melva Hackbarth, a USM graduate student who directed the production, used her theatrical talent to adapt the play to a more modern outlook. While preserving the atmosphere of the 17th century Italy, Hackbarth added a few extras such as red-neck chain-saw warriors, an Indian tribe, and a couple of well-known American expressions.

The play was performed April 22-26 in the USM union and was presented by the Department of Theatre and Dance and the USM Union Board.

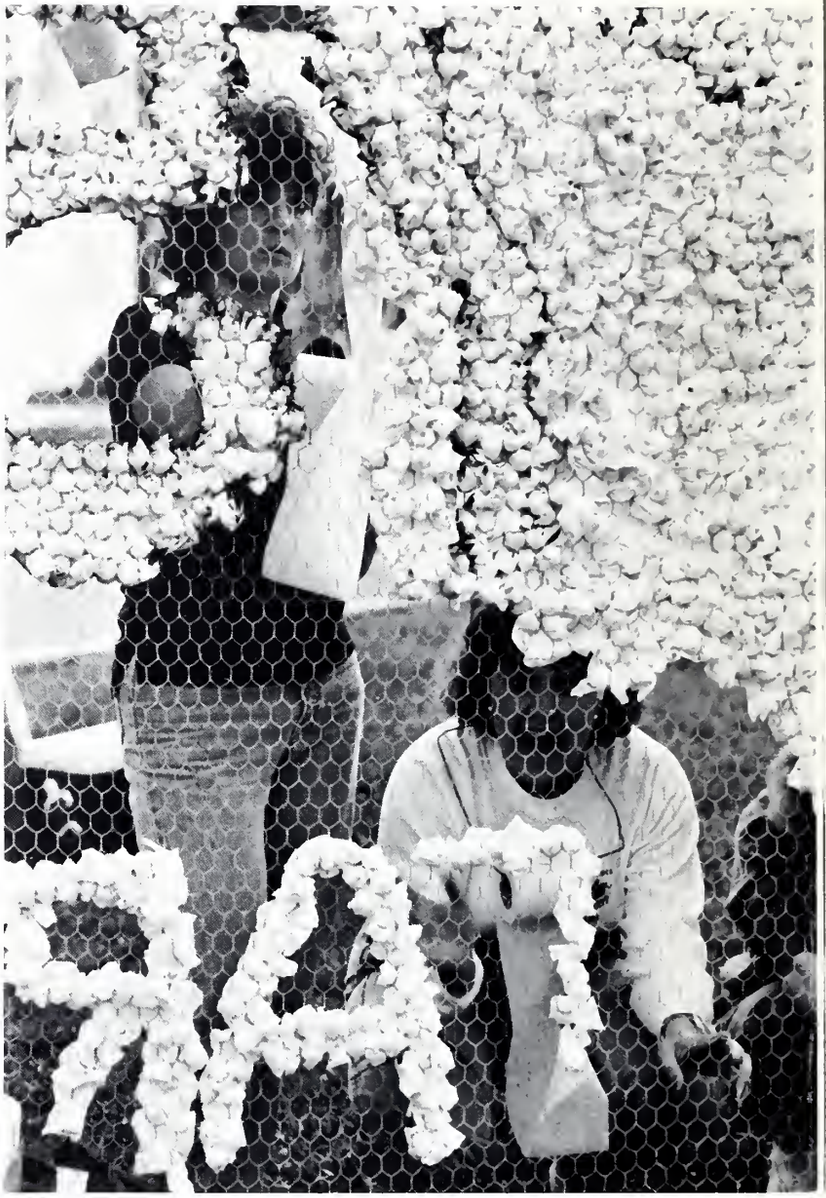
Homecoming 1985



Homecoming 1985 was a soggy affair. Football players, fans, alumni, and display-decorators had to deal with hurricane Juan and his aftermath.

However, the drenching rain did not put a damper on the festivities. The weekend began on Friday afternoon when the USM Foundation held its annual meeting. On Saturday a social for the alumni was held in the morning, and a jamboree was held that afternoon. Special guests at the University of Southern Mississippi's homecoming included a student from the first class of Mississippi Normal College and former student body members, Student Printz and Southerner editors, Hall of Fame inductees and members of Who's Who.

The theme for Homecoming 1985 was "75 Reasons to Win"; this theme could been seen in the many displays scattered around campus. The first place winners of the Homecoming display competition were the Central Area, Kappa Alpha, Delta Delta Delta and Newman Center for Beauty; South Area, Pi Kappa Alpha, Alpha Sigma Alpha and Air Force ROTC for Originality; and North Area, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Delta Gamma and the English Language Institute for Theme.

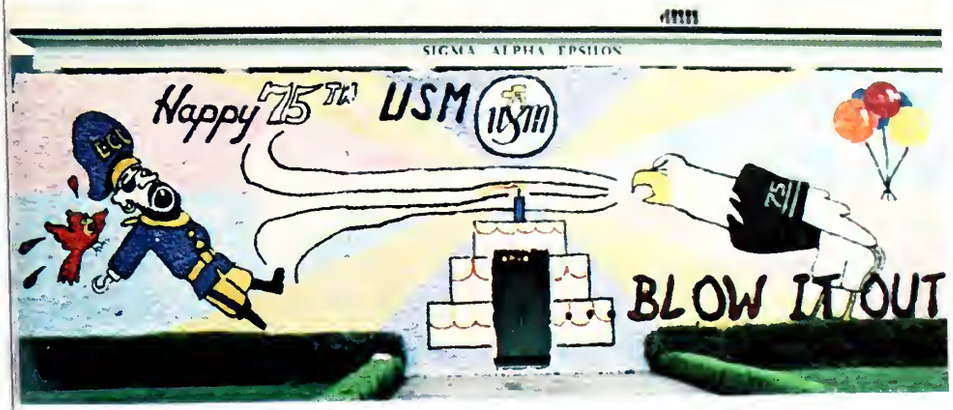
"75 Reasons to Win"



Miss Connie Lynn Mitchell of Picayune, Mississippi, was crowned the University of Southern Mississippi's 1985 Homecoming Queen during pre-game ceremonies on November 2, 1985.

While attending the University of Southern Mississippi, Connie was an active member of Chi Omega sorority where she served as Personnel Chairman and Songfest Director; she also served as Chaplain for the Kappa Sigma Stardusters. She was a member of the Associated Student Body Public Relations Committee, Pi Tau Chi, and the Campus Crusade for Christ. She was selected one of the University of Southern Mississippi's Top Ten Beauties in 1984 and Miss Hattiesburg 1985. A dean's list scholar, Connie majored in Radio, Television, and Film; she says that she would like to use her experience in these areas to work in the public relations and entertainment fields.

Connie's escort for the evening was Barry Reynolds, President of the Associated Student Body.

Greek God and Goddess

Jersey days, swaps, making spirit signs, a parade, Greek unity, swim-across, marathon run, bike race, three-legged race, dizzy bat race, tug-o-war, and Greek God and Goddess. To a USM Greek these events can mean only one thing—Greek Week! The fraternities and sororities are randomly paired, and the teams compete in the week's activities which end Saturday at Greek Games. Every team presents a god and goddess at the Greek Week parade; the male and female whose team receives the most points in the competition are the Greek God and Goddess. Pi Beta Phi was a member of the winning team for the third consecutive year when the Pi Phi/Delta Tau Delta team won the competition in 1985.

Cindy Crane was named Greek Goddess. She is a Community/Municipal Recreation major from Carthage, Mississippi. She is active in Pi Beta Phi and has served as the chairman or a member of various committees. Cindy has represented Pi Phi on campus by being involved in the Associated Student Body Senate, the University Activities Council, Intramural Advisory Board, the USM Recreation Club, and USM Election Commission; she is a Sigma Nu Little Sister. Cindy is a Dean's List scholar and is listed in Who's Who Among Women in American Universities and Colleges and in Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges.

Scott Harbison, a senior from McComb, Mississippi, was named Greek God. He is majoring in Advertising and is a member of the USM Advertising Club; he says that after graduation he would like to work for a major ad agency or for a large national magazine. Scott has held the offices of Sergeant at Arms and Rush Chairman for Delta Tau Delta fraternity and was elected Mr. Delta Tau Delta 1984-85.

A 9-year tradition ended this spring when the doors of Hattiesburg Hall were closed so that the dormitory could be renovated. The entire renovation project should be completed in one year, and the hall should reopen in the fall of '87.

Being a Hauler means no air conditioning, sitting on the front steps, Mr. Freeze, noisy radiators and all too often no hot water in the mornings. It means friends and frequent arguments, waterballoon fights and breaking visitation, parties and academics. It means the Rat Pack and Room 110. It means growing up.

Hattiesburg Hall also means intramurals. The Haulers have won the Men's Residence Hall plaque for the last two years and are trying for an unprecedented third consecutive win this year.

Too often Hattiesburg Hall and the Haulers have been criticized for being too fraternal. What exists behind these walls is exactly what residence halls should be. It is "more than just a place to live." The residents of this hall have gained more than an academic education; they have learned about life and people.

Hattiesburg Hall: 1976-1986. Where will all the "real men" go?

In August of 1985 Alpha Kappa Alpha sorority became the first black sorority to live in Wilber (Panhellenic) Hall at USM. The sorority was founded nationally in January of 1908 and was installed at USM in April of 1975. They were colonized at USM under the leadership and guidance of Shirley Green Mays and were the first black Greek organization to be sanctioned at this university. AKA is the world's oldest Greek letter sorority founded for and by black women.

AKA's are active in many philanthropic projects. They donated personal items to the Hattiesburg city jail inmates, donated baby food on World Food Day, held a talent show and gave the proceeds to the United Negro College Fund, donated food to the Alpha Tau Omega canned food drive, and worked with the local NAACP on Martin Luther King Jr.'s birthday.

The ladies of salmon pink and apple green can be found in Gamma Beta Phi, National Dean's List, ASB spirit committee, ASB election committee, Student Nursing Association, Mississippi Association of Student Nurses, Phi Theta Kapp, Golden Key National Honor Society, UAC, Sigma Psi Alpha, Lambda Sigma, Air Force ROTC, ACM, co-op program, President's List, Universtiy Singers, University Chorus, American Marketing Association, Alpha Epsilon Delta, Golden Girls, Student Speech and Hearing Association, Phi Chi Theta, Alpha Phi Alpha little sisters, Omega Psi Phi little sisters, Afro-American cultural society, Rho Lambda, RHA, Kappa Alpha Psi little sisters, Union Board, and Who's Who. AKA's also sponsor many annual events for their sorority. These events include Gems and Gents Fashion Extravaganza, the Mr. Esquire Pageant, and a Wine and Cheese social.

The major goal of Alpha Kappa Alpha is to be of service to all mankind; this commitment to service is implemented and supported by the ladies of AKA through a program of targets that emphasize life-long learning, health care, and fulfillment.

Alpha Delta Pi

ADPi

The Eta Zeta chapter of Alpha Delta Pi was formally installed in February of 1985 after their colonization at USM in September of 1984. ADPi is one of the newest sororities formed at USM. They have shown great determination and participation in Greek Life at USM; they were presented an Outstanding Achievement Award by their national for their impressive first year at the University of Southern Mississippi. During Rush they pledged 90% of their legacies and were presented a Legacy Award.

Alpha Delta Pi enjoys being involved in fund-raising and community activities. The members provide a Children's Lunch with Santa during Christmas for the American Cancer Society, and they have an annual fund-raiser for their philanthropy, the Ronald McDonald House. They not only provide parties and enjoyment for others. ADPi's celebrated the Fall with a party for themselves; the theme of the party, S*M*A*S*H describes what fun it was. They also celebrate the Spring with their traditional Black Diamond Ball.

ADPi's can be found in a variety of campus activities and organizations such as cheerleading, Southern Misses, UAC, fraternity little sisters, President's and Dean's Lists, Resident Hall Assistants, Arnold Air Society, Angel Flight, Phi Delta Rho, the Southerner staff, Air Force ROTC, the Pride, Dixie Darlings, and the swim and soccer teams.

The colors of azure blue and white, "Alphie" the lion, the woodland violet, and the blue and white diamond signify Alpha Delta Pi sisterhood. Their motto, "we live for each other" symbolizes their involvement not only in sisterhood activities but for the campus as well.

Alpha Sigma Alpha

Alpha Sig

The Beta Delta chapter of Alpha Sigma Alpha has been a part of Greek Life at the University of Southern Mississippi since May of 1938, making it the oldest social sorority on campus. They were founded nationally on November 15, 1901 at Longwood College in Farmville, Virginia.

The ladies of Alpha Sigma Alpha remember their motto "Aspire Seek Attain" as they follow their four aims of physical, intellectual, spiritual, and social development. As a group ASA participates in Anchor Splash, Greek Games, Song Fest, pep rallies, and the homecoming display competition where they placed 1st in originality and 2nd in beauty. Just as a flower is made up of many different and unique parts so is Alpha Sigma Alpha sorority; as individuals Alpha Sigs are members of Gamma Beta Phi, Alpha Lambda Delta, Phi Eta Sigma, Lambda Sigma, Omicron Delta Kappa, Phi Kappa Phi, Phi Delta Rho, The Pride Marching Band, Order of Omega, Honors College, Phi Theta Kappa, Student Council for Exceptional Children, and Southerner staff. They are the Southerner editor, Diamond Darlings, and President's and Dean's list scholars. Alpha Sig also donates time and money to their philanthropy, Special Olympics. Socially, Alpha Sigma Alpha hosts annual events including a Halloween party, hayride, Red Slipper Ball, Parent/Daughter Banquet, Founders' Day celebration, and a senior tea.

Crimson, pearl white, palm green and gold, ladybugs, the star, and the aster are all very special to an ASA. An Alpha Sig always upholds the high ideals of her sorority. She is dedicated, honest, dependable, trustworthy, and sympathetic, but most of all she is a sister for life.

Chi Omega

Chi-O

Founded on April 5, 1895, Chi Omega received its charter at USM on April 23, 1949. Chi Omega is represented by its colors cardinal and straw, the owl, the white carnation, and its aims of Hellenic culture and Christian Ideals.

Philanthropies that Chi Omega supports include Lunch with Santa for the Cancer Society, Jail Bail for the Heart Association, and the Magnolia Golf Classic. In 1985 Chi Omega hosted its 34th Annual Songfest; all the proceeds go to a charity.

With 14 years of over-all scholarship, Chi Omega has girls in every campus honorary society and was the recipient of the 1986 Aubrey K. Lucas scholarship award. Chi-O's are members of ASB committees, Southern Style, the Student Alumni Association, Honors Association, Omicron Delta Kappa, Gamma Beta Phi, Pi Tau Chi, Phi Delta Rho, Beta Alpha Psi, Phi Kappa Phi, Rho Lambda, Phi Eta Sigma, Kappa Mu Epsilon, Sigma Psi Alpha, American Marketing Association, Tri-Beta, Southern Exposure, PRSA, and Golden Key. The members of Chi Omega are also Dixie Darlings, Golden Girls, Campus Beauties, Pike Calendar Girls, Homecoming Maids, Miss Southern, and Miss USM.

Annual parties hosted by Chi Omega include Blind Date, Christmas Party, Sadie Hawkins, Spring Formal and Lu-Owl.

Delta Delta Delta

Tri Delta

Delta Delta Delta was founded nationally at Boston University on Thanksgiving Eve of 1888; the sorority was installed at USM in 1958.

Tri Deltas participate in all areas of campus life; the girls are varisty cheerleaders, Dixie Darlings, Eaglette captain, Varsity tennis, and volleyball players, and members of Southern Style, Southern Exposure and Omicron Delta Kappa, as well many other organizations. Both the sophomore and junior Greek women with the highest GPA are Delta Delta Delta's.

Annual activities for Tri Delta include the Orange Crush-Blind Date Party, a fish fry, an Apple Polishing Party for teachers, a Halloween Party given to the actives by the pledges, a Christmas Party, the Stars and Crescent Ball in New Orleans, and the Bula Bash. Tri Delta also hosts a barbeque dinner-fund raiser for the USM—Delta Delta Delta scholarship fund and a poinsettia sale-fund-raiser for children's cancer research.

The Tri Deltas efforts were rewarded when they won second place in Songfest, second place in Anchor Splash, and second place in beauty for their homecoming display.

Silver, gold and blue, the dolphin, and the pansy are some of Delta Delta Delta's favorite things.

Delta Gamma

Colonizing only 15 years ago, the ladies of Delta Gamma have established a very positive reputation here at USM. They contribute a lot of their time to several university functions. They serve as the hostesses of the Miss Southern pageant, official timers of the varsity swim team, scorekeepers for the Magnolia Golf Classic, and sponsors of the annual Anchorsplash.

You can find Delta Gammas in the Associated Student Body Senate and Cabinet, Honors College, honorary fraternities, USM Singers, theatre productions, Homecoming maids, varsity cheerleading, Dixie Darlings, Southern Misses, Eaglettes, varsity tennis, UAC, the Southerner staff, Southern Style, Golden Girls, Who's Who, and fraternity little sisters.

The ladies of the bronze, pink, and blue also participate in Greek Games and Songfest; they have won the Songfest competition fo three consecutive years.

Along with all of their campus activities, DGs still make time to work with their philanthropies which are aid to the blind, sight cor servation, and grants and loans.

Founded nationally in January of 1920, the Lambda Theta chapter of Zeta Phi Beta was installed at the University of Southern Mississippi in May of 1982.

Zeta's strive to become a part of the community life of the nation and have involved themselves in civic and social betterment throughout the world. Some of their philanthropic projects are the March of Dimes Walkathon, the United Way Halloween Carnival, Cystic Fibrosis Foundation, Easter Seal Campaign, and visits to nursing homes and children's wards of local hospitals.

The members of Zeta Phi Beta are involved in the professions of medicine, law, the fine arts, teaching, invention, and other fields of higher learning. This year the ladies of royal blue and white won USM's award for the Most Scholastically Improved sorority.

The main objective of Zeta Phi Beta is finer womanhood, sisterly love, scholarship, and service.

Delta Zeta

DZ

Pink and Green, Turtles, and the Killarny Rose can all be identified with the ladies of Delta Zeta. Delta Zeta, founded nationally on October 24, 1902, was installed at USM on March 31, 1984.

Delta Zeta's are active as Dixie Darlings, Pride of Mississippi Marching Band, Angel Flight, Gamma Beta Phi, Rho Lambda, the Student Printz staff, the Southerner staff, and Resident Assistants. Their national philanthropy is Galludet College for the Speech and Hearing Impaired, and they have supported the United Way with various fund-raising activities.

Delta Zeta's annual parties include Tahiti Sweetie/ Blind Date and their Spring Formal. In 1984 they received second place originality for their homecoming display. The USM chapter has also had the Outstanding Pledge for Province 18 of Delta Zeta.

KD's are Dixie Darlings, Golden Girls, Southern Misses, President's and Dean's Lists scholars, Homecoming Maids, Campus Beauties, Pike Calendar Girls, fraternity little sisters, and Miss Hospitalities.

Beta Sigma chapter of Kappa Delta has received the Kappa Delta National Achievement Award, the Pledge Education Award, and the Continuing Excellence in Pledge Education Award.

Besides being active in campus activities KD supports the Crippled Children's Hospital in Richmond, VA., the National Committee for the Prevention of Child Abuse, and the local March of Dimes, as well as being a foster parent to a child from Honduras. Their own annual parties include their White Rose Formal, Bearhug Party, Beach Party, Initiation Tea, KD Classic Party, and a Founder's Day ceremony.

Known nationally as The Friendliest Sorority, Kappa Delta is identified by olive green and pearl white, diamonds, emeralds, and pearls, and the teddy bear and rainbow.

Phi Mu
ΦM

Phi Mu sorority had its beginning in 1852 and the ladies of rose and white were established in USM's Greek system in March of 1950. The Phi Mu spirit of sharing and the need to "lend to those less fortunate a helping hand" led to Phi Mu's involvement with Project HOPE, the Halfway House, Laurel Children's Orphanage, Valentines for Forrest County General Hospital's pediatric ward, and Christmas parties, Thanksgiving dinners, and Easter baskets for the needy.

Annual social events include Fall Fling, Pink Carnation Ball, Founder's Day, Wine and Cheese Party, International Dinner, and Mother/Father/Daughter Banquet. Alpha Omicron chapter of Phi Mu was chosen the Most Improved Chapter at their national convention and was named Chapter of the Quarter of 122 chapters nationwide.

In campus life, Phi Mu's can be found in Alpha Lambda Delta, Phi Eta Sigma, Rho Lambda, Lambda Sigma, Honors College, Dixie Darlings, Cheerleading, The Pride, Southern Misses, Assoc. of Computing Machinery, Amer. Society of Interior Designers, Fashion Plus, Student Nursing Assoc., Southern Exposure, ASB, Baptist Student Union, the University Singers, Order of Omega, Pike Calendar Girls, and fraternity little sisters.

Lion-loving Phi Mu's place an emphasis upon faith among the sisters. Love, honor, and truth are the principles within which the meaning of Phi Mu can be found.

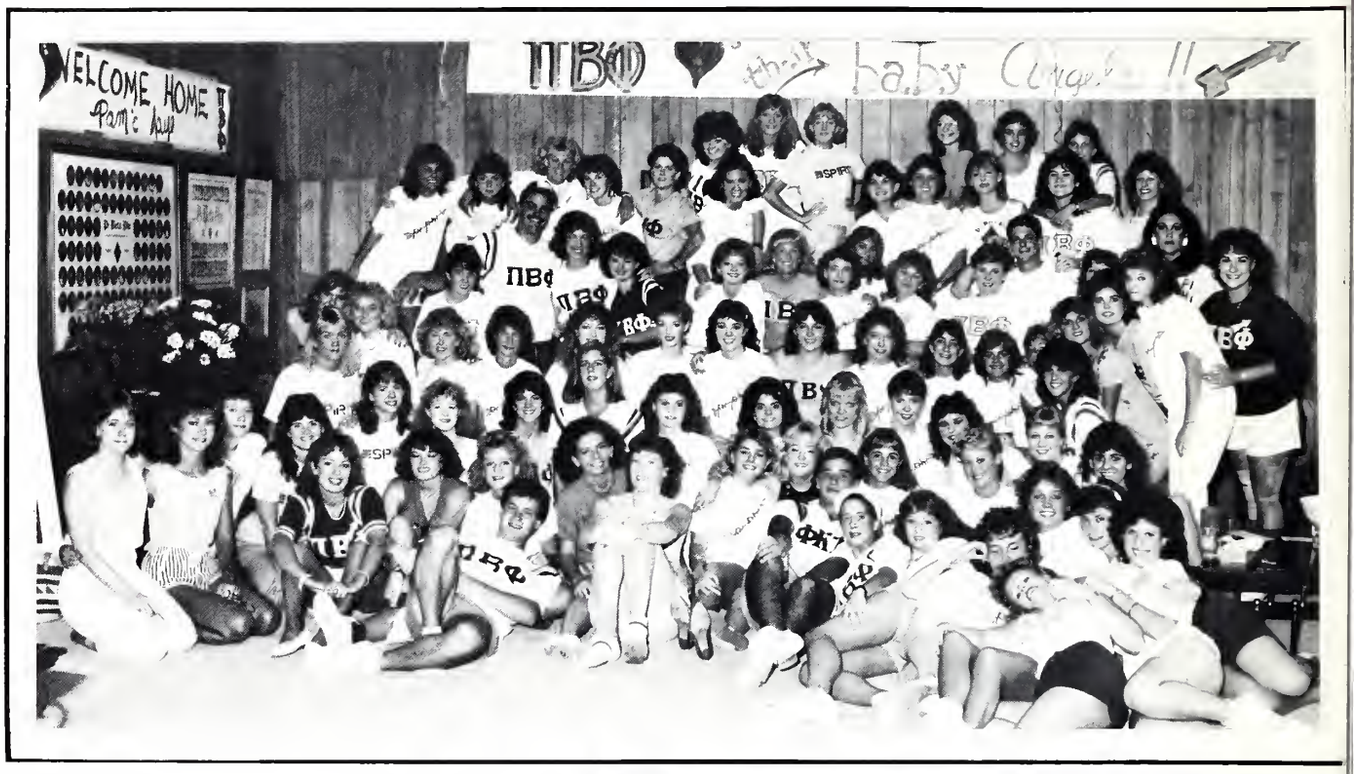
Pi Beta Phi

Pi Phi



"We are what we are because we chose and were chosen." Woven of wisdom, integrity, commitment and pride are the ladies of Pi Beta Phi.

Pi Beta Phi was first founded on April 28, 1867. The Mississippi Alpha chapter at USM was organized in 1961 and became active in every aspect of campus life. Pi Phi's are three-year winners in USM intramurals, three-year winners of Greek Games, winners of the Mississippi Blood Services scholarship, winners of Anchor Splash, and third place winners in Song Fest.

Pi Phi sisters are Campus Beauties, Dixie Darlings, Golden Girls, Diamond Girls, fraternity little sisters, Greek Goddesses and more. They are girls with arrows over their hearts, twinkles in their eyes, and smiles on their faces. Also among the Pi Phi Sisters are President's and Dean's lists scholars, members of scholastic honoraries, ASB council members and senators, Angel Flight attendants, UAC members, Pike Calendar Girls, Student Printz editors, Southerner staff members, and USM basketball, swim, and soccer team members.

Pi Phi's celebrate their sisterhood through Hoedown, Blind Date, Beau and Arrow Ball, and Shipwreck weekend, as well as having a Mom & Pop's Day, Big Sis/Lil Sis Retreat, Hallowe'n Party and Christmas Party. The Pi Phi National philanthropy is Arrowmont, a school for arts and crafts in Gatlinburg, Tennessee.

Golden arrows, colors of wine and silver blue, angels, and wine carnations are some of Pi Phi's favorite things. In essence a Pi Phi girl is many things, but most of all she is proud . . . Pi Phi Proud.

Alpha Phi Alpha

Alphas

William Holden, Johnny Bourdeaux, Don Fuller, Anthony Leggett, Jeff Wallace

"First of all, servants of all, we shall transcend all." is the motto of Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity. The fraternity was founded nationally on December 4, 1906.

The men of Alpha Phi Alpha sponsor a group of children at Ellisville State School and participate in the Mobil Street Clean-up. The Alphas also sponsor the Miss Black and Gold Pageant, the Tribute to the Black Woman, and a numerous dances, as well as step shows. Active in various areas of campus and community life, Alpha Phi Alpha won third place in state convention and first place in state basketball.

The men of Black and Old Gold strive to promote high moral character, high scholastic standards and the betterment of our people.

The following is a tribute to the late Johnny Bourdeaux:

"The sense of brotherhood that should exist between all black men is a must for any organization to succeed." These were the words of our brother Jonny Walter Bourdeaux when writing a letter of interest to Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity, Inc.

From his humble beginning in the small, no-stop-light town of Lauderdale, Mississippi through his secondary education in the usual county school, to his college education at Meridian Jr. College and USM, my exuberant brother exhibited true brotherhood and love for all mankind. We have always held that by not allowing justice for one man, the justice of every man would be in jeopardy.

On Friday, February 21, 1986, Johnny Bourdeaux died at Forrest General Hospital at 2:00 a.m. He had survived for fourteen days after being shot twice in the head and once in the neck by someone who may still be walking around free to kill again. Sharon Ward, a reporter for the Student Printz wrote the following for an August '85 edition of the paper:

Johnny Bourdeaux of Meridian, a business administration major specializing in aerospace studies, has become a part-time jack-of-all-trades to earn money this summer. The Air Force ROTC candidate has picked up almost every odd-job steered his way by Nancy Bruckner, off-campus coordinator of student employment at USM. Boudeaux said that he has taken jobs mowing yards, weeding flower beds, moving furniture and clearing vacant lots to support himself this summer. Some of the more unusual opportunities he has undertaken include driving a local resident to Jackson and gathering boxes for a women preparing to move. "I like variety," the 25-year-old said. "It's amazing some of the things people will pay you to do. Working odd jobs has helped me to grow socially. Being in the military, I was used to being referred to as a number. Working with individuals in the community, I feel I have advanced in relating to people and feel rewarded for it," he said.

Brother Johnny Bourdeaux had a genuine desire for the unification of all people, but there had to be a point of origin. He said, "I know that I have specific qualities that can be utilized in a strongly-knit organization. I only want the chance to utilize these talents, and I cannot think of a better starting point than with my own people."

Johnny, who was affectionately known as "Hero" by his family and close friends, left us with these words in an oration called "Black Youth in Pursuit of Excellence": " . . . In this day and age, the key to the future success of blacks lies in the hands of today's young people . . . If stagnation and apathy set in, all of the contributions made thus far by prominent black leaders will fade into the past and be forgotten."

We cannot forget.

Alpha Tau Omega

ATO

Alpha Tau Omega, founded at USM in 1949, has contributed many talents and time to USM and to the various activities on campus. There are members of ATO in the Honors College, honorary fraternities, varsity athletics, varsity cheerleading, intramurals, Army and Air Force ROTC, the Pride, the Jazz Band, theatre productions, and sorority big brothers.

The men of Alpha Tau Omega will also be found participating in Song Fest, Greek Games, Anchor Splash, and various social service projects. But one must not forget their post-game parties, Homecoming celebrations, Viking Party, swaps, and their infamous yard parties.

This has been a very special year for the men of Alpha Tau Omega. Groundbreaking for their new house took place at Homecoming; they are hoping the new complex will be completed in the Fall.

Delts

Purple, white, gold, the purple iris, truth, power, faith and courage are all associated with Delta Tau Delta fraternity. The Delts were founded nationally in 1858 at Bethany College in Virginia and were installed at USM in April 1985.

Although they are the newest fraternity at USM they are quite active in campus life. The Delts are members of the ASB, swim and soccer teams, Southern Exposure, Southerner staff, Gamma Beta Phi, Lambda Sigma, and Sigma Delta Chi, American Marketing Association, Air Force ROTC, Army ROTC, President's and Dean's Lists, Omicron Delta Kappa, University Scholars, UAC, sorority big brothers, Rho Gamma, Arnold Air Society, Delta Sigma Pi, Kappa Mu Epsilon, Sigma Psi Alpha, Upsilon Pi Epsilon, Kappa Kappa Psi, and the Student Printz staff. They won a second place prize for their homecoming display and second place in Chi Omega's songfest. The men of Delta Tau Delta have also been busy raising money for Cystic Fibrosis and singing Christmas carols for the patients at the Convarest Nursing Home.

Annual activities on the Delt's social calendar include the Mississippi Delta Party, Delt's St. Valentine's Day Massacre Party, 1st Anniversary/Founder's Day Happy Birthday to Me Party, and their Rainbow Ball.

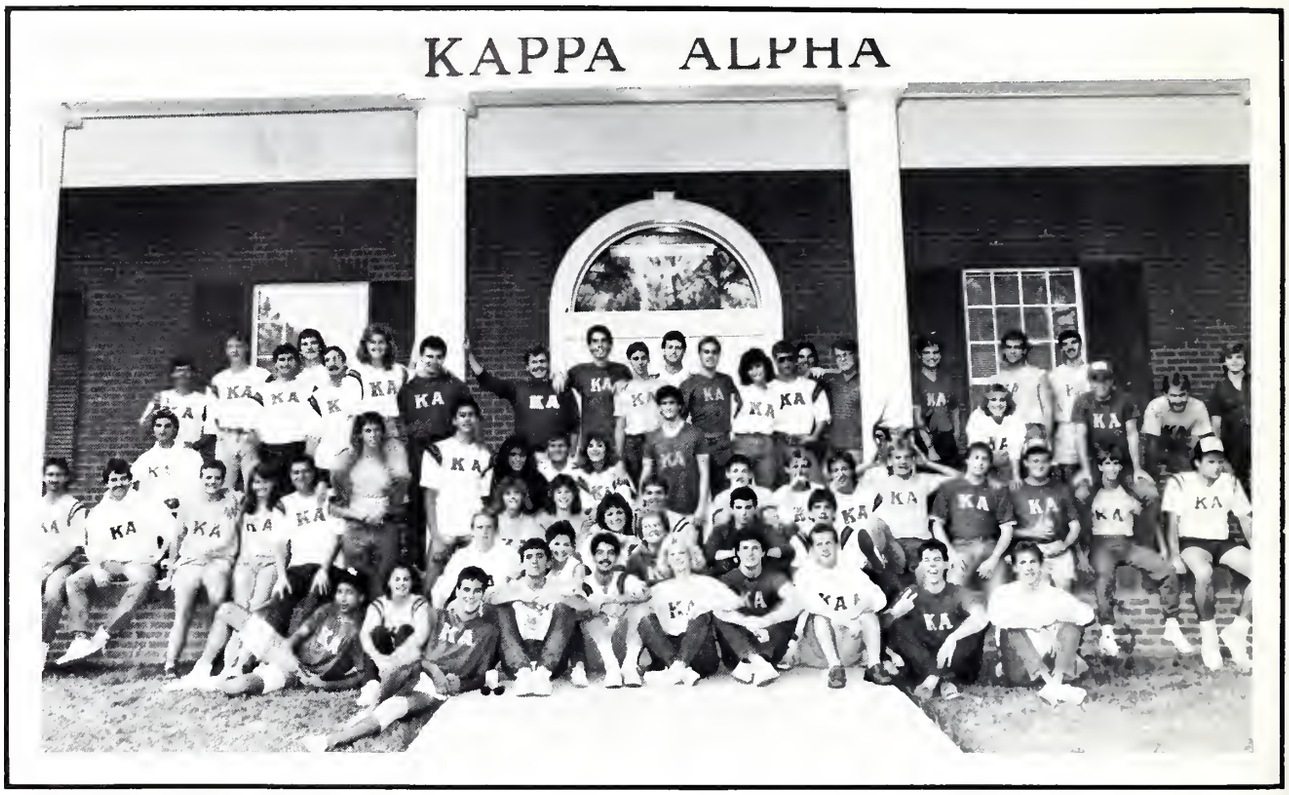
Kappa Alpha
KA



Many years ago, on a distant campus far away, Kappa Alpha Order was founded. The tides of time swept the seed of Kappa Alpha to the University of Southern Mississippi, center of art, culture, and higher learning. In November of 1949, this seed flourished and formed the Kappa Alpha Mansion, home of distinguished Southern gentlemen, where honesty, courtesy, and brotherhood prevail, and where mint juleps are served daily on the Southern lawn. The men of crimson red and old gold have since taken a paramount role in the academic, artistic, athletic, cultural, governmental, recreational, and social development of the University, remaining a vital cog in the mystic art of collegiate life at USM, in the South, and in the Universe.

Kappa Sigma

Kappa Sig

Kappa Sigma fraternity was founded in December of 1869, and the men of scarlet, white and green came to USM in December of 1948 with the intention of pursuing excellence. In the 1985-86 school year, the Epsilon Nu chapter of Kappa Sigma worked toward that goal through campus involvement, athletics, community service, and social activities.

The members of Epsilon Nu were well represented in campus affairs and were proud to receive the Campus Involvement Award from Kappa Sigma National. Kappa Sigs held key positions in the Associated Student Body and were members of Alpha Lambda Delta, Phi Eta Sigma, Lambda Sigma, Sigma Lambda Chi, Gamma Beta Phi, and Omicron Delta Kappa. Kappa Sigs are also vice-president, secretary, academic chairman, and judicial board members of the Interfraternity Council; they can be found in Southern Style, sorority big brother programs, and many other campus organizations.

Kappa Sigma maintains an active athletic program; they participate in over 25 intramural sports and placed teams in the playoffs for volleyball, football, soccer, softball, and bowling.

Community service is another area of activity for Kappa Sigma fraternity. Kappa Sig makes a donation to United Way at homecoming, sponsors the Annual Kappa Sigma Run for Special Olympics, and participates in Chi Omega Song Fest. For the third consecutive year Kappa Sigma has won an award presented by the Hattiesburg Blood Center for their community service.

The men of Kappa Sigma also find time to have fun at events such as football game parties with live entertainment, swaps, their Founders' Day Formal, canoe trips, and the legendary Kappa Sigma bash, a four-day South Seas Island Seafood Extravaganza

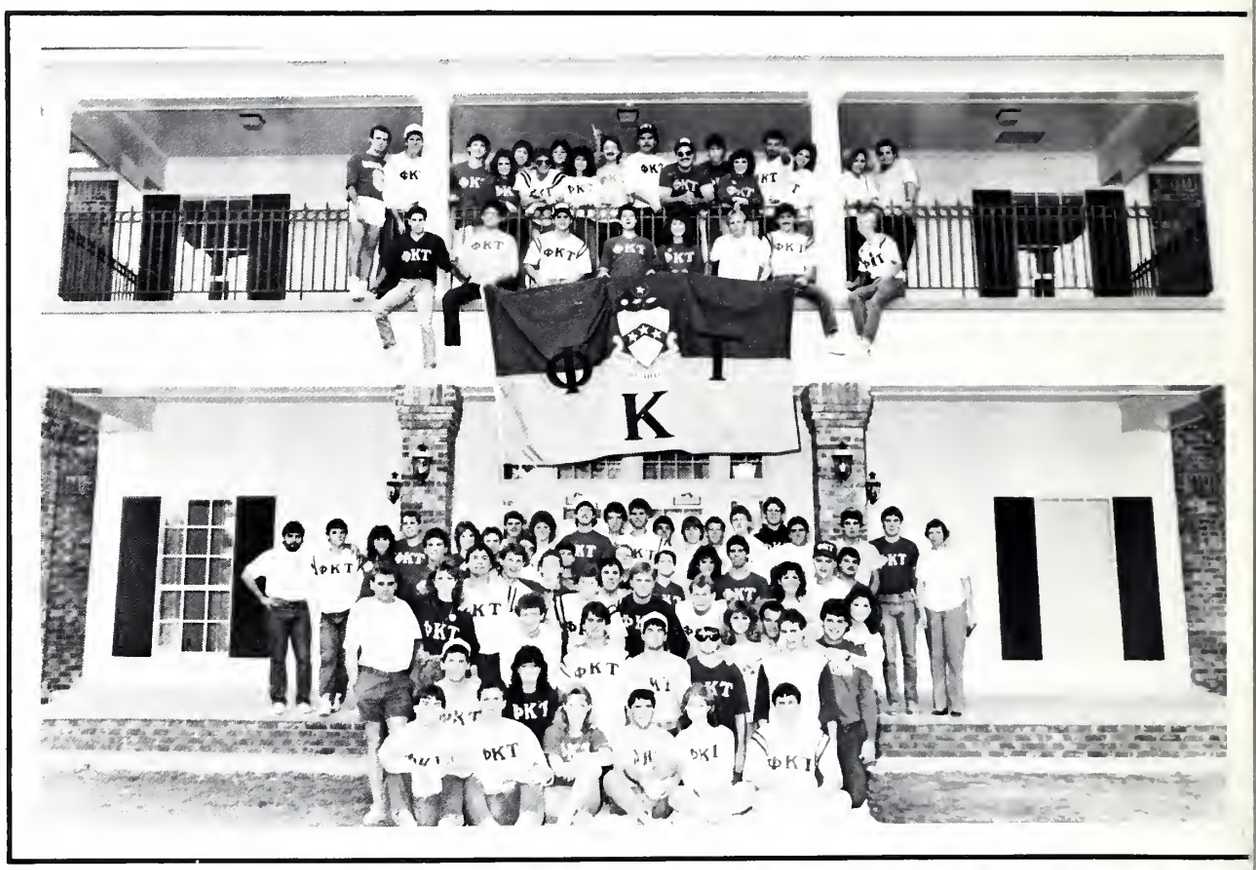
Phi Kappa Tau

Phi Tau



The men of Phi Kappa Tau fraternity were founded nationally on March 17, 1908 and were installed at USM on October 15, 1948.

The men of Harvard red and old gold exemplify their motto "Success is Never Coasting" by being involved in Omicron Delta Kappa, Lambda Sigma, Gamma Beta Phi, ASB, Southern Style, Wesley Foundation, Rotoract, and ROTC. Phi Tau's are in Hall of Fame and Who's Who, cheerleaders and mascot, IFC president and vice-president, ASB treasurer and senators, and varsity football, soccer, and baseball players. They support the Children's Heart Fund and the Jail Bail for heart fund. Both the Greek of the Year and the Intramural Athlete of the Year are members of Phi Kappa Tau.

The Red Carnation Formal, Lost Weekend, and the Fall Party are all a part of a Phi Tau's social life.

Pi Kappa Alpha

Pike

Founded nationally on March 1, 1868, Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity was installed at the University of Southern Mississippi on December 10, 1949.

Pikes can be identified in many aspects of college life by their jerseys of garnet and gold. Pikes are varsity swimmers, football players, baseball players, sorority big brothers, and Associated Student Body senators and committee members. They are also members of Alpha Lambda Delta, Lambda Sigma, Gamma Beta Phi, Phi Eta sigma, Southern Style, Circle K International, and Air Force and Army ROTC. Not only are the men of Pi Kappa Alpha involved in campus activities, they also support the Mississippi Blood Services, raise money for Cerebral Palsey, and donate time to the patients of Ellisville State School. Their homecoming display garnered them 1st place in originality.

The highlight of the Pi Kappa Alpha's social calendar is Pike Fest, a massive four day party held each spring. Live bands at three night parties and one day party add excitement to this gala affair. The Pikes also enjoy being sponsors for the Panama Jack bikini contest.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon

SAE

Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity was installed at the University of Southern Mississippi in December of 1965; SAE was founded nationally on March 9, 1856 in Tuscaloosa, Alabama.

This year the Mississippi Sigma chapter of Sigma Alpha Epsilon was chosen the number one chapter in the nation; thus, they received the John O. Mosely Zeal Award which is presented to the top SAE chapter. Once again they are the largest fraternity on campus with members, little sisters, and Mom Fairley numbering over 130.

As a group the SAE's participate in Anchor Splash, Greek Games, blood drives, pep rallies, Song Fest, and intramurals. Individually, the men of Sigma Alpha Epsilon can be found in Omicron Delta Kappa Lambda Sigma, Southern Exposure, Southern Style, Hall of Fame, Who's Who, Honors College, Associated Student Body, and sorority big brother programs. SAE's are varsity football, baseball, tennis, golf, track, rugby, and soccer players, as well as varsity football and basketball cheerleaders.

Besides hosting post-game parties, swaps, receptions, date parties, a champagne breakfast, and a Christmas party, Sigma Alpha Epsilon sponsors a Hawaiian Tropic suntan contest and pre-cram jam before finals. Paddy Murphy, their annual spring blow-out is one of the highlights on their social calendar which is second to none!

Represented by royal purple and old gold, the men of Sigma Alpha Epsilon consider membership a taking on of the best possible life and call SAE a "degree in friendship."

Sigma Chi—"You'll find it there." The men of blue and old gold were founded nationally on June 28, 1855; Sigma Chi was installed at the University of Southern Mississippi on November 22, 1981.

Active in all areas of campus life, Sigma Chi's are members of Alpha Lambda Delta, Phi Eta Sigma, Lambda Sigma, Omicron Delta Kappa, Gamma Beta Phi, Sigma Psi Alpha, Pi Tau Chi, Beta Beta Beta, Honors College, American Marketing Association, Student Alumni Association, Resident Hall Association, Campus Crusade for Christ, Southern Style, and the Southerner staff. They are Associated Student Body senators and president. Sigma Chi sponsors fund-raisers for United Way and supports Wallace Village for Children. The men of Sigma Chi have been rewarded for their involvement by receiving the Peterson Significant Chapter Award four years in a row. Other honors for Sigma Chi have been the Legion of Honor Scholarship Award, the Aubrey K. Lucas Scholarship Award, and All University and IFC Intramural Champs.

Although the Sig's are busy with campus and community events they still manage to have an active social calendar; their social affairs include their Sweetheart Ball, Founders' Day celebration, Oktoberfest, Yacht Club, swaps, and Derby Day.

Sigma Nu

Snakes

The men of Sigma Nu are bound together by a common quest for excellence in the fields of academics, athletics, community and service and brotherhood.

Social events this year included a hurricane swap, a three-day Lorris Morris Homecoming extravaganza, the second annual "KN All Star Party" hosted by Kappa Alpha and Sigma Nu, and their White Rose Formal in Gulf Shores, Alabama.

All partying and no studying makes Johnny a dumb boy; their goals are high and they achieve what they set out to get. Academics is very important to Sigma Nu, and that is proved by the winning of the Aubrey K. Lucas Award in 1985, for the highest over all GPA for fraternities.

Sigma Nu's are individuals, but their strong sense of brotherhood allows them to excel.

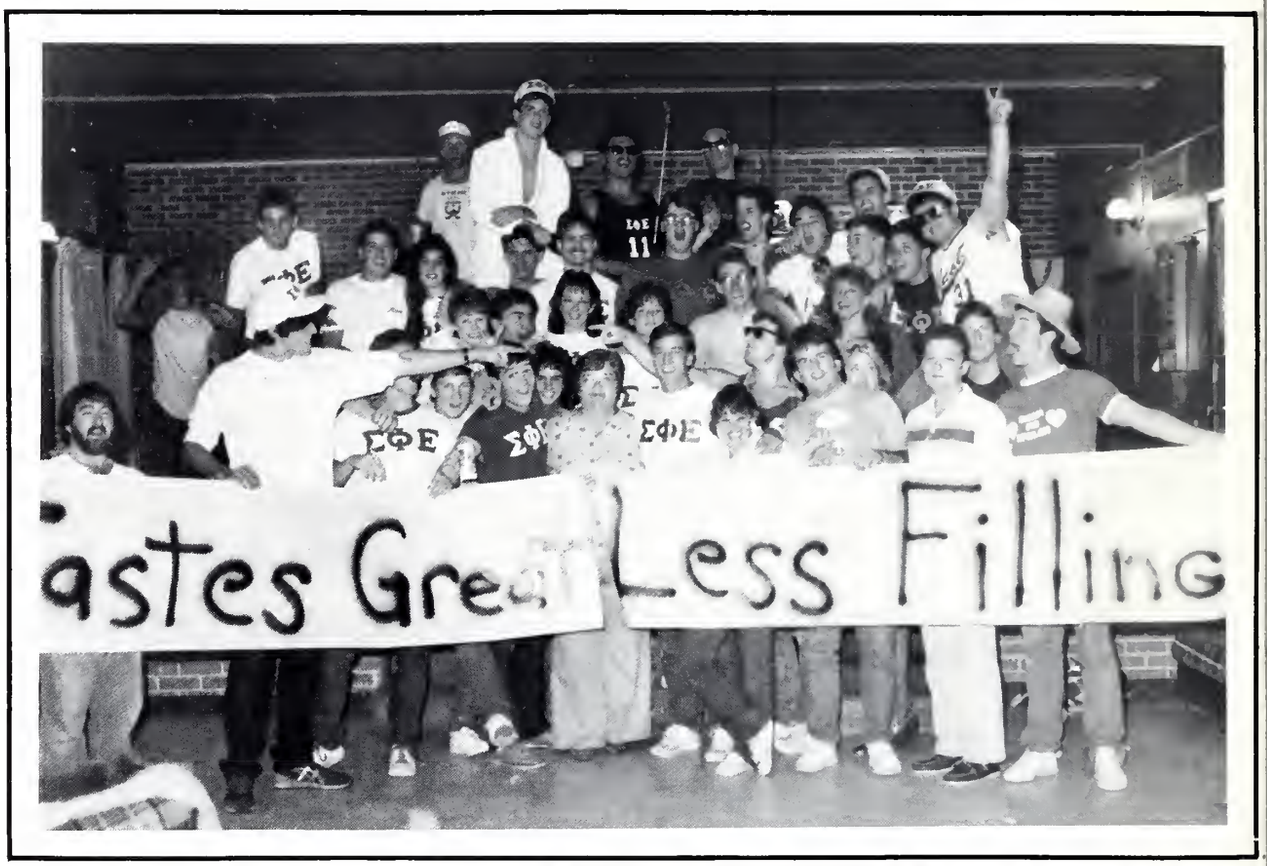
Sigma Phi Epsilon

Sig Ep



Based on the cardinal principles of Virtue, Diligence, and Brotherly Love the men of Sigma Phi Epsilon were founded nationally on November 1, 1901 at Richmond College in Richmond, Virginia. They were installed at the University of Southern Mississippi in May of 1953.

Sig-Eps take an active part in campus life and community activities. They have aided the Hattiesburg Humane Society in all areas and sponsor an annual Halloween haunted house for United Way. The members of Sigma Phi Epsilon are also members of The Pride Marching Band, the University Chorus, Alpha Lambda Delta, Phi Eta Sigma, Honors College, Army ROTC, Air Force ROTC, Lambda Sigma, American Marketing Association, Campus Crusade for Christ, Gamma Beta Phi, intramural disciplinary board, Phi Kappa Phi, and IEEE. They are varsity football, baseball, track, golf, and rugby players, junior greek with highest over-all GPA, and sorority big brothers. They have adopted the motto "Realizing Your Potential through Sigma Phi Epsilon . . . A Brotherhood of Individuals, but they pool their many talents to participate in Anchor Splash, Greek Games, all intramurals, and Song Fest. The Mississippi Gamma chapter of SPE at USM received the Excelsior Award for 1985-86; this award is given to a Sig Ep chapter for improved and outstanding achievement in Brotherhood Development, the fraternity's pledge education program.

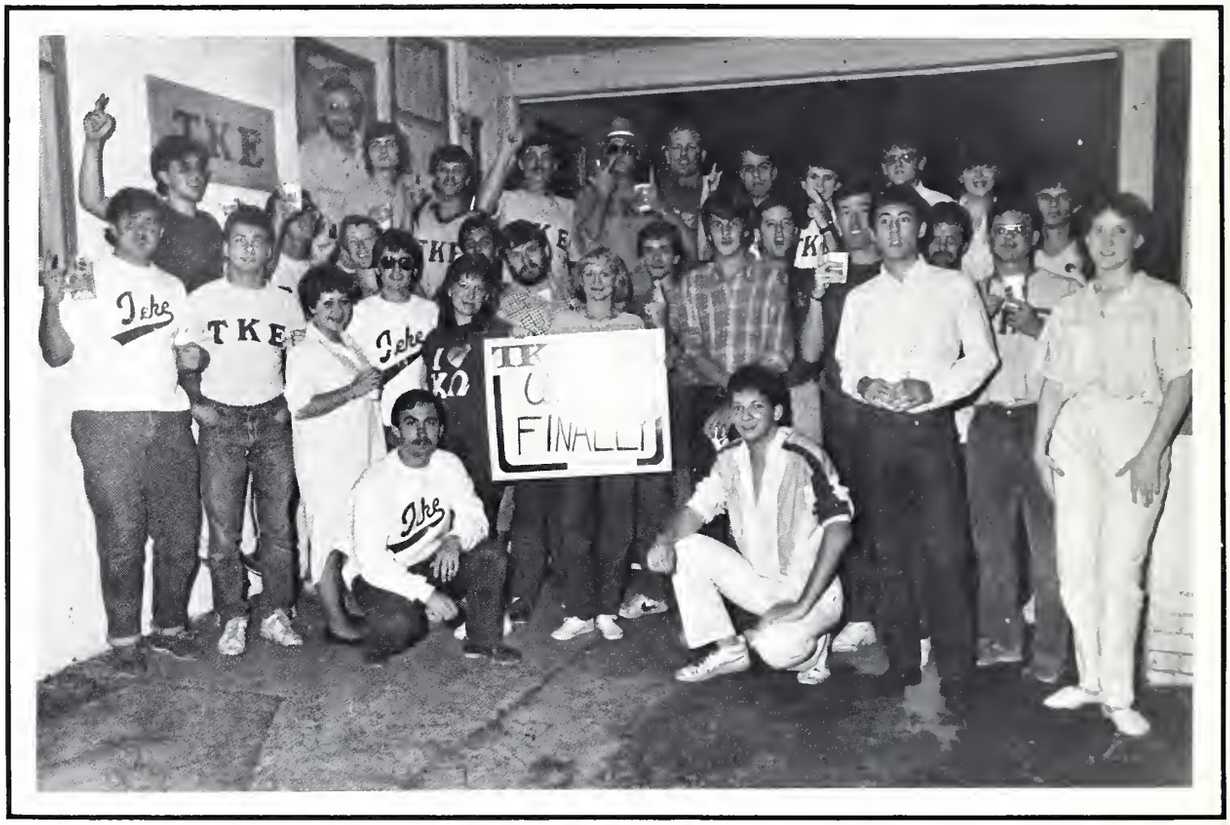
Tau Kappa Epsilon

Teke



Tau Kappa Epsilon is one of the fastest growing fraternities at the University of Southern Mississippi; they became the thirteenth chartered fraternity at USM when they received their charter in January of 1986. TKE at USM is a part of the largest social fraternity in the world. Tekes are involved in nearly every aspect of campus life. Their members take part in campus organizations such as ROTC, Criminal Justice, Baptist Student Union, UAC, and RHA to name a few.

The essence of Tau Kappa Epsilon is based on the three principles on which the fraternity was founded—love, charity, and esteem. From the time a young man enters the bond of Tau Kappa Epsilon these principles are used as guideposts for his education. TKE membership is based not on wealth, rank, or prestige but on personal worth. Every member is considered a vital part of the fraternity as a whole.

With the receiving of their charter, Teke, its active alumni organizations, and Board of Trustees look forward to a new beginning as one of the integral parts of the Greek system at the University of Southern Mississippi. Every TKE takes pride in being a Teke for life.

Football—1985

The Golden Eagles rebounded from a disappointing 4-7 1984 campaign in proud fashion, posting a 7-4 record. The "Nasty Bunch" defense lived up to its name and throughout the season were ranked high in the nation's top twenty defenses. Vincent Alexander finished his junior season as the 18th rusher in the nation with just over 900 yards.

Twenty USM seniors began their last season as Eagles on Sept. 8th with a 28-0 flattening of Louisiana Tech. Vincent Alexander used cutback running as he rambled for 125 yeards. The Eagle defense compiled an outstanding effort limiting the La. Tech Bulldogs to a paltry 12 yards rushing. Perhaps the most disappointing game of the season occured the following week, at nationally ranked Au-Bo-burn as the Eagles scrappy effort fell short 29-18. The score, however, didn't tell the real story. For the first quarter, the Eagles neutralized the Auburn Tigers holding future Heismann winner Bo Jackson to just 20 yards in the first quarter, far short of his 250 yard-per-game average. As the Eagles drove, however, disaster struck. After a nifty 25 yard scramble, starting quarterback Robert Ducksworth was sidelined with a deep thigh bruise and it seemed the Eagles faded as fast. Backup quarterback Andrew Anderson threw three quick interceptions and Bo Jackson exploded on runs of 31 and 30 to finish with 286 yards.

The Eagles fell the following week in the heated state rivalry with the Miss. State Bulldogs, losing a close one, 23-20. The absence of Robert Ducksworth was evident as the Eagle offense showed little life under an uncertain Andrew Anderson. The Eagle defense was unable to contain the shifty Bulldog quarterback Don Smith who had victimized the Eagles the previous year with his outstanding speed. This year, Smith's scrambling and accurate arm sunk the Eagles with touchdown passes of 36, 52, and 49 yards. The Eagles came off the tough loss and followed under the poise of Andrew Anderson to record five straight wins over Southwestern Louisiana, (38-16) Northwestern Louisiana (14-7), Memphis State (14-7), a shellacking of Louisville (42-7), and a soggy homecoming shutout over East Carolina (27-0). The Eagle advance came to a halt, however, at Colorado State in Ft. Collins, Colorado. Only 3,800 shivering fans watched the contest filled with turnovers, shaky footing, and a brisk wind that discouraged passing. A sudden snowstorm blanketed the field and the Eagles as they fell in the bitter cold, 35-17.

With a bowl bid on the line, the Eagles journeyed to Bryant-Denny Stadium where they staged their 1982 upset of Alabama, 39-28. The Eagles pulled out everything for the game opening by shuffling two entire offenses on and off the field on their first two series. After the confusion failed to rattle the Tide's defense, the Eagles used the passing of Anderson and the outstanding play of Adrew Mott to jump to a 13-10 lead late in the third quarter. The Tide responded under the leadership of quarterback Mike Shula and drove for two touchdowns that sent the Eagles home with a 24-13 loss.

The final game versus Tulane afforded the Eagles a chance to revenge their 1984 35-7 loss in the Superdome. A determined Nasty Bunch turned away a solid offensive effort by the Green Wave by holding them without a touchdown. James Cooper aided the defensive effort with a 70-yard interception return for a touchdown that sealed the Eagle victory 24-6.

Coach Carmody

The Golden Eagle's football fortunes took a turn in the right direction as the team posted a 7-4 record in 1985. Coach Carmody said one reason for the team's success was the individual performance of the players. "We've had outstanding performances by our athletes." Carmody said that this team was very comparable to his 1982 and 1983 teams. "They were very strong defensively, had the ability to come up with the big play offensively, and had a sound kicking game." He said that the qualities he liked most about this team were their toughness, togetherness and unselfishness. "We established these things as a theme during the spring and carried them all the way through the season." "We never palyed a bad game; we never played a game where we were flat or unemotional."

Carmody came to USM in 1974 as a defensive coach under Bobby Collins. His other coaching jobs include stops with the U.S. Army, Holy Cross High School (New Orleans, La.), Tulane, Kentucky, Mississippi State, North Carolina and Ole Miss. In 1981 he went to the National Football League as a defensive line coach for the Buffalo Bills. The Bills ranked fifth in the league in total defense that year and missed the Super Bowl by one game. Carmody explained the major difference between coaching on the collegiate level and coaching in the NFL. "In the NFL you have 45 players who were all outstanding college players with outstanding skills. You're coaching a group of people who are very accomplished and skillful in their jobs," Carmody said. "You have much more time to spend studying films and game plans because the players aren't in class; there's a lot more time to teach."

Carmody came back to USM to take his first head coaching position the following season. He said that one reason he came back was the great bunch of "kids" here who would work hard and who had outstanding attitudes. The Golden Eagles posted a 7-4 record that year, and one of those wins was a 38-29 victory over Alabama. With that victory, Carmody became the only rookie coach to ever beat the late Paul "Bear" Bryant in Tuscaloosa, and one of only five rookie coaches to beat Bryant anywhere. The 38 points scored by the Golden Eagles also set a record for the most points scored against a Bryant-coached team in Tuscaloosa. In his second season as head coach, USM again went 7-4 making Carmody only the second USM coach ever to win 14 games in his first two seasons.

As for the 1986 season, Carmody said nine starters on offense and both kickers will be back, but all three defensive linemen, one defensive end, and both cornerbacks will be gone from the "Nasty Bunch" defense. "We lost six really good players on defense," Carmody said. "We'll be rebuilding our defense during the spring." The 1986 schedule will be very challenging for the Golden Eagles. The schedule includes such teams as Texas A&M, Kentucky, and Florida State. "It's the most difficult schedule in the history of the school," Carmody said. "It provides us with some great opportunities to beat some schools rich in tradition that could give us national publicity."

Golden Eagles

This season the Eagle Basketball team proved that the experts can be wrong. In all the pre-season polls, the Eagles were predicted to fin ish no better than 4th in the Metro Conference and were never considered to be a threat to anyone. On paper, the Eagles were a young squad and were expected to move through a rebuilding year.

The Eagles, however, recorded seven straight early victories surprising even the national media. The home opener saw the Eagles cruise past Missouri-St. Louis by seventeen 82-65. Next, the Eagles won two close games, McNeese State, 81-77 and NE Louisiana, 69-68. Th next two games both went into overtime with the Eagles emerging victorious in each, 86-82 over Arkansas State and 84-82 over Soutl Alabama. After two more relatively easy victories over Tennessee Tech and Oregon Tech where the Eagles soared into the 100's, the high flying team went to Jacksonville for the Easter Bowl Tourney. USM drew the host Jacksonville and lost their first game, 80-66, in which Casey Fisher scored 20 points.

Texas A&M handed the Eagles loss number two, 81-61, as the Eagles shot only 35% from the floor and 34.7% from the line. The slid continued at Arkansas State as the Eagles lost 80-71, though four Eagle starters scored in double figures. The Eagles started 1986, 8-3, a they headed into the always tough Spring Metro Conference schedule. After an opening victory against non-conference Fredonia State 90-59, the Eagles lost four consecutive Metro Games. At Cincinnati, poor shooting killed the Eagles as well as at the next game versu Virginia Tech where the Eagles shot well below 50% from the floor. The Eagles played well at home against eventual Metro NCAA Champion Louisville but lost in the final minutes, 59-54. That letdown probably caused USM to play their worst game of the year, an 81 69 loss to UNO. It was after this game that coach M.K. Turk started experimenting with a new starting line-up that caused them to wi six of the next seven games.

A 30-point performance by senior Michael Jett lifted the Eagles over Florida State, 94-92, but 18 points by Derek Hamilton and 16 poin by Michael Jett were not enough to move USM past the 2nd ranked Memphis State Tigers as the Eagles lost, 68-64. Coming off the loss however, the Eagles treated home crowds to impressive victories over South Carolina, 77-65, Illinois Wesleyan, 95-88, and Southwe Louisiana, 74-69. In a nationally televised game, Kenny Siler scored a season-high 31 points in an exciting victory over Florida State, 10 96. Shooting 61%, the Eagles then beat South Carolina, 89-82, in one of their toughest road games.

After losing at Memphis State, 92-85, and Louisville, 83-74, the Eagles closed out the season with a three-game home stand. In anoth televised game the Eagles showed great toughness in coming back to defeat Virginia Tech, 69-66. Sensing an exciting finish Eagle fan flocked to the next two games as attendance soared. The Eagles then deposed of Cincinnati, 69-22, and closed the season with a stirrin comeback victory over UNO, 65-60. The victory was accented in the final seconds by a reverse slam dunk by Derek Hamilton. The thir place Eagles drew Cincinnati in the first round of the Metro Tournament in Louisville and the Bearcats exacted revenge on the Eagle 75-74. For the 17-11 Eagles the season was not over though. Their hard work earned them an NIT bid and a first round game against SE foe Florida. The Eagles rushed out to a 22-9 early lead, but by halftime the game had been tied by the Gators who overpowered the Ea gles in the second half to win by 10, 81-71.

For the Eagles, there seems to be only good signs for next year as they return four starters. The Eagles finished the season 57th in th nation in the CNN-USA. Coach M.K. Turk was voted Metro Coach of the Year and Casey Fisher set a new single game assist recor against Oregon Tech with 16 assists.

Lady Golden Eagles

Coach Kay James' Lady Golden Eagles opened an exciting year with two victories over North Carolina-Charlotte, 71-63, and Eastern Kentucky, 72-59. The Lady Eagles reeled off four straight victories over Miss. State, 63-62; Nicholls State, 63-57; Florida, 69-67; and Jackson State, in overtime 56-54. Through this stretch Bridget Winston scored in double figures twice while Faye Hodges paced the Lady Eagles with 15 points a game.

Following this success, the Lady Eagles fell into a slump in which they lost three straight games to Louisville, 54-53; Cincinnati, 89-74; and Virginia Tech, 89-78. Then they rebounded by beating South Carolina 63-62, in front of their largest season crowd.

Next the Lady Eagles lost to Miss. College, 71-70; UNO, 78-70; and Memphis State, 77-58 in which Sharon Varnado scored a season-high 26 points. Coming back from these defeats, USM rolled off three more victories—University of Alabama Birmingham (UAB), 87-83; Southeast Louisiana, 66-63; and Tulane, 85-72. In the UAB game Amy Heiden scored 20 points, and Faye Hodges matched that 20 points in the Southeast Louisiana game.

UNO broke their three-game winning streak by beating the Lady Eagles 77-60. But USM came back to beat Florida State, 74-67. The Lady Eagles then lost to Memphis State, 66-63, and Southeast Louisiana, 61-54. They again beat Florida State, 89-76, before closing out the season with four unexpected losses.

The Metro Tournament was a disappointment for the Lady Eagles as they lost in the first round to Virginia Tech, 86-76.

The Lady Eagles ended the season with a 12-15 overall record and a 6-6 home record. Bridget Winston led USM in scoring with most points per game, and Trina Gordeau led the team in rebounding with most rebounds per game.

Volleyball

The USM Women's Volleyball team had a "very successful year" said Coach Helen Grant. They finished with a 26-20 record and a 56.5% win-loss percentage; that was second in the conference. The lady volleyball squad played with enthusiasm, intensity, and courage. Several volleyball players finished high in individual Metro statistics. Among them were Laura Bjorkland, Marda Bendel, and Ann Nunez.

With the loss of only two players and exceptional recruiting to cover these losses, Coach Grant expects an even more successful season next year.

Softball

Despite returning experience, the Women's Softball team was severely sidelined by the loss of two players, due to ineligibility. Coach Laura Porciello cited two games which she feels were her teams best all season. Though they were both in a losing cause, Coach Porciello said, "there was something good to say about both of them." The first was a 2-1 loss to fourth-ranked Louisiana Tech, who fielded two All-American pitchers. The team recorded a 15-24 record for the year. Coach Porciello stated she was looking for even better games from next year's team.

Women's Swimming

Their first year on U.S.M.'s campus, the women's swim team emerged in full force. The team was comprised of many walk-ons who had impressive backgrounds in swimming competition. Coach Giles felt the women's team was very strong and had tremendous possibility for future seasons. Giles also said that all would be returning next year.

The women finished their season ranked fifth in the Metro Conference with a 2-9 record. The Lady Eagles also established their first 14 records this year. Among their accomplishments, Coach Giles was also very proud of the women swimmers for having the highest G.P.A. (3.40) overall of the athletic teams in the fall semester.

Finishing sixth in the Metro Conference, the U.S.M.'s swim team ended the season with much enthusiasm that will carry them into next year's competition. The men's team had several accomplishments of which their head coach, Mike Giles, was very proud. Along with setting eleven new school records, the team finished the season with a 4-7 record. Coach Giles feels very hopeful for next year's team, with the help of good recruiting and with the majority of the team returning next year. Coach Giles said that there were only three swimmers that would not be returning. Giles also added that he thought the swimmers who were able to finish the season had their best lifetime swims this year.

Women's Tennis

Coach Helen Grant's youthful tennis squad recorded a 10-13 overall record for the 1985-86 season. Coach Grant's cited this year's team as "erratic," saying "that's what happens with four freshmen in the line-up." The top six players were Shelley Porter, (7-13), Yvonne Wilson, (18-7), Kim Pope, (12-8), Laura Alexander, (11-13), Liz Hallaret, (13-11), and Desiree Konareck, (13-13).

Playing lead doubles for Coach Grant were Kim Pope and Shelley Porter who finished at 15-6. The Women's best finish was a tie for third with Arkansas St. at the U.S.M. Invitational tournament. Coach Grant expects an even better record next year with the return of 5 of her top players.

Under the leadership of Dr. Larry "Doc" Harrington, the U.S.M. Men's Tennis team finished out the season with another winning season. In the several tournaments the men participated in the year, they posted impressive finishes in both the U.S.M. Invitational (2nd) and the Mississippi Invitational (4th). Going into the Metro Conference Tournament at the University of South Carolina, the eagles held an impressive mark of 18-9 for the season. Harrington noted the play of senior Michael Hansson as "outstanding", and "being one of the best players I've ever coached." With a talented squad of players including Russ Willis, Clay Wigelswroth, Sammy Kay, Jon Paul Kennedy, and Johan Ericsson, Harrington looks to fill the void of Hansson next year and to improve on an already impressive record.

The U.S.M. Track and Field, composed of mostly freshman, made great strides during the 1985-86 season. "We've made tremendous improvement this season," said head Coach Marshall Bell. That improvement included the breaking of several personal records for members of the team, and Bell sees an improvement in the future. Members of the team who saw improvement were Chris King, who consistantly improved his long distance running; Calvin Staples, who received extensive news coverage for his high jumping efforts; and Shawn Wilson, the freshman shot putter who has been on the heals of Richard Byrds' school record all season. Wilson is setting his goals toward being nationally competitive. Coach Bell announced that for the 1986-87 school year a Women's track and Field team will begin.

Golf

Welcome to the new U.S.M. Golf coach, Jimmy Carpenter. Playing the game 22 of his 29 years, Carpenter is the first PGA pro to take over the coaching job since his father, former PGA treasurer James Carpenter, who coached in the 70's. Jimmy Carpenter's knowledge of the game paid off this season as the U.S.M. golfers placed in the top 25% of most of their tournaments. Leaping 10 places from last year, the Eagles finished 14th of 21 in the Seminole Classic in Tallahassee. In their best finish of the year at the UNO Invitational, the Eagle golfers finished 5th in a field of 17 teams, and Craig Kindrat captured medalist (low score) honors with a 214, 2 under par. With the loss of only one senior in his top six, Carpenter is very optimistic about the season next year.

The play of U.S.M.'s baseball team can be comprised in three words: youthful, exciting, and at times erratic. Coach Hill Denson's squad spent most of the season above or close to the .500 mark. This year's schedule was probably the most strenuous the Eagles have ever faced. Florida St., Missouri, and Alabama were considered three of the toughest competitors. The opening of the season awakened nationally ranked #1 Florida St. as the Eagles walked away with their first victory. The Eagles continued their surprises winning seven in a row in one series of games. Leading the pitching staff for the Eagles was Darryl Lindsey with a 2.77 ERA (Earned Run Average) and 6-5 record. He was followed by Kent Willis and Chris Wagner. Leading the offense for the Eagles was rightfielder, Greg Conner, with 11 homeruns, 5 game winning RBI's and a .340 batting average. Conner was followed by first baseman Doug Cronk at .295 and Darrin Nixon, the designated hitter at .276. Coach Denson felt highly optimistic going into the Metro Conference Tournament hoping the Eagles would catch fire as the season came to a close. Hopefully for next year, the youthfulness of the Eagles will grow into experience. The Eagles look forward to another successful year.

Editor's Note

"Why would an accounting major want to be the editor of the university's yearbook?" I am often asked this question, and my answer is that I love yearbooks. I love working on them, and I love looking at them. I never really intended to be a part of a yearbook staff, nor to be the editor of such a project. However, after I learned the basic terminology and the mechanical processes of yearbook production, I developed an intense fascination for cropping pictures, writing copy, and meeting deadlines. Yearbooks are my favorite hobby; as I flip through the pages of my yearbook I have a special feeling of personal pride and achievement.

Being editor of the 1986 Southerner has been one of the most rewarding and challenging experiences of my college life. I have so many people to thank for helping make this book a success: my parents and fiance for all their patience, ideas, and support; my advisor, Mr. Warren K. Dunn and the people who work in his office, Vicki Wilson, Minnie Austin, Temple Bush, Kathy Webster, and Michelle Poirier for typing, xeroxing proofs and letters, making phone calls and proofreading layouts; the members of my sorority, Alpha Sigma Alpha for giving me encouragement to keep going when I'm tired, understanding why I wasn't around much during the spring semester, and for staying up with me all night when I had a deadline the next day; and the many members of the 1986 Southerner staff who faithfully worked their office hours, made phone call after phone call only to find out nobody was home, and ran errand after errand regardless of the weather.

My yearbooks are among my most cherished possessions. Mark Twain once made a list of things to get out in case of a fire. Yearbooks weren't on his list, but they would be on the top of mine.

Colophon

Paragon Press, a division of Herff Jones Yearbooks in Montgomery, Alabama, printed the 1986 edition of the Southerner. The cover is of Black Vibra Tex base with a Brush grain. The Eagle on the cover is embossed in gold metalay, and the title is blind embossed. The endsheets are Colortext Ivory EX-10. Eurogloss Enamel paper is used for pages 1 through 16 of this volume; Bordeaux Special is used throughout the remainder of the book. Four flats of four color process, one flat of Pantone Yellow #121, and one flat of HJ 700 Colonial Red are used to add color to Volume 50 of the Southerner. Garamond type is used in 48 pt. for division pages and in 36 pt. for headlines, 12 pt. for copy and 10 pt. for captions; Garamond Italics is used in 18 pt. for subheadlines. Garamond Italics is also used for emphasis.

The day is done and the darkness
Falls from the wings of Night,
As a feather is wafted downward
From an eagle in his flight.
—Henry Wadsworth Longfellow
